Marion Playing 2 Games With Tiffin Here Today

Idle since last Thursday, Marion's Ohio State league baseball club this morning was tuning up for a double-header at 1:30 o'clock when the Tiffin Mud Hens were scheduled to invade Lincoln park.

In circuit games yesterday Mansfield won over Findlay, 6 to 3 in a game that was called by darkness at the end of the eighth inning Fremont walloped Fostoria 8 to 1, in the only other league encounter.

At Findlay fans protested vigorously on decisions during the game and one woman spectator rushed up to Umpire Roy Blanchard and clouted him on the side of the head. Blackie Rochester, the winning hurler, was credited with allowing four of Findlay's 9 hits, issuing five walks and fanning two batters.

The hard slugging Red Sox ham mered out 16 hits off Bitsko Findlay's leading hurler. At Fostoria yesterday Fritz Payer pitched five hit ball to turn in the 8 to 1 victory for the Fremont Pods. Payer a ten inniter picked the offerings of Lefty Red Jenkins for 15 safeties.

Marion's schedule for the remainder of the week will be light with no game booked for Thursday afternoon. The Cigarettes will travel to Fostoria Friday and to Mansfield Sunday afternoon in the latter clash a doubleheader.

BOWS TO EPWORTH AFTER WINNING TEN CONSECUTIVE GAMES

Still Occupies Top Rung in No. 1 Sunday School League Pennant Race.

Wesley's entry in the No. 1 Sunday school softball league up until yesterday the only unbeaten team in the city's organized leagues had its consecutive winning streak snapped at 10 games last night when the scrappy Epworth aggregation handed the circuit leaders a 6 to 5 defeat.

Wesley, however, still occupies the top rung of the No. 1 league ladder and observers are of the opinion that nothing short of a cyclone can jar it from first place. The team has won 10 of 11 games and but four contests remain on the summer schedule. Wesley holds a three game lead over its nearest rival and needs to win but one more encounter to assure itself a tie for the No. 1 loop pennant.

Other games last night found Forest Lawn handing the Lee street squad an 8 to 2 defeat and Trinity batting Salem 4 to 3. The Wesley-Epworth encounter held the spotlight of interest however Wesley scored all of its three runs in the initial inning on two hits a walk and an error. The three runs looked like the margin of victory until the fifth frame when the Epworth club unloosed its powerhouse attack which netted six tallies. Epworth's runs were scored on four hits, three walks and an error.

Plans for a series of stadium benefit games the first of which will be held at Lincoln park diamond Friday night were announced today by Elmer Shaw, Y. M. C. A. secretary and secretary of the Marion softball commission. The first benefit encounter will match the Marion Steam Shovel and Huber teams in a regulation Industrial loop game at Lincoln park at 6:15 p. m. Friday. Other games selected at random from the various leagues will be designated as benefit encounters and be scheduled for the Lincoln diamond. An admission fee of 10 cents will be charged.

Never Saw Snowfall

Listed among the topmost desires of Gordon "Slim" Mann Marion right-hand mound man who has won 11 games and lost but one, is the desire to remain in Ohio until winter sets in. Mann avers that he doesn't prefer the Ohio climate to that of his home state, California, but that he would like to see for the first time falling snow.

In his home state the weather is never worse than unusual, and the 23 year old pitcher has never seen falling snow. He hopes to remain here until the first snowfall and then return to his father's poultry ranch near Petaluma, Calif.

To Get Promotion

Roy Blanchard, the oldest umpire in the Ohio State league, from the point of service will be promoted to the New York-Pennsylvania league at the close of the season according to an announcement made by Harry Smith, circuit president. Blanchard will report to the Class A league next spring.

Umpire Trouble

Lastest blast in the verbal warfare in which Mansfield appears to be the focal point comes from Grover Hartley, likeable pilot of the Findlay Browns. He referred to a recent game at Mansfield as having the worst officiating he had ever seen in the years he has been identified with baseball.

Hartley lived by what he claimed was no less than robbery, asserted that if the league's official arbiters are not on hand to work the next game his team plays at Mansfield he will withdraw his club from the field. It seems according to Hartley that when the official umpire failed to arrive the Browns received the short end of the decisions from a hastily discovered umpire-spectator.

Named for Marion

Marion Lefty Spence ace southpaw moundsman of the Marion club is actually named after the city under whose banner he's playing at the present time. Lefty's parents lived in the city when he was born and he was named after Marion. The southpaw doesn't remember much about his earlier life here having moved away when he was less than a year old.

Yankees Upset White Sox Hopes by Winning Both Ends of Double Bill

By DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Sports Writer

A series for the league lead and All Star game or a World Series gives many a team the blind staggers. But no Colonel Ruppert's boys in white. The Yanks just swing their bludgeons and bring home the baron. They reserve their most momentous feats for days when the competition is tight and the standards are full.

Employing their time honored home run technique—hit 'em where they can't possibly be—the Yanks blew down the Chicago White Sox in both games of a double header yesterday, 7 to 2 and 5 to 3, and pushed their league lead to seven games. The season's largest weekday crowd, 69,767 fans, was on hand.

Home run trade mark of the Yankees since 1921, won both games. Bill Dickey hit his 16th with three on in the eighth inning of the second game to climax a bombardment that had begun when Lou Gehrig starting his 1,660th consecutive game had shot his No. 22 into the stands with two mates aboard in the first inning of the opener. In between these two wallops the Yanks batting bandit, Joe DiMaggio and Tom Lazzeri took care of the scoring. Joe hit No. 32 with two mates aboard in the seventh inning of the first contest and Tony got one in each game.

The Sox who came to New York with gaudy dreams of a four game sweep are burdened with a two game deficit and the series is half over. For the moment their pennant ambitions are squelched.

Gehrig, as chipper as a rookie in the field and at bat, was presented a watch between games for being the league's most valuable player in 1936.

The Chicago Cubs with Bill Lee, Gabby Hartnett and Frank Demaree hitting homers, subjugated the Phillies 11 to 4. Lee hurled his 12th victory. The win gave the Cubs a seven game lead in the National League over the Giants who dropped a tight one to the Reds in the tenth, 3 to 2. The Pirates picked up a game and a half on the Giants by beating the Dodgers 5-1 and 10-4.

Bob Grove pitched the Red Sox to a 13 to 1 triumph over the Indians and Earle Brucker's homer, his first of the season, beat the Tigers for the Athletics 2 to 1. The Senators shaded the Browns 3 to 2 in the 12th on Johnny Stone's single.

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—Cleveland's slumping Indians thumped in the opener of the Boston series hoped for better luck today in a twin bill with Denny Galehouse and Willis Hudlin named to oppose the two Sox southpaws, Archie Mc-Kain and Fritz Ostermueller.

When Lefty (Mose) Grove held the Tribe in check yesterday amid a 15 hit Boston barrage which shelled Mel Harder, Joe Heving and Earl Whitehill, it marked Cleveland's fifth loss in seven games of the current eastern trip. The final score was 13 2.

Only Lou Lary and Frankie Pytlak weren't fooled by Grove. Lary connecting for a single, double and triple in four trips and Pytlak for a single and triple.

LITTLE SANDUSKY BEATS MARION NINE

The Village Tavern baseball team of Little Sandusky chalked up another victory Sunday to the tune of 13 to 1 by defeating the Marion Independents for the third time this season.

The game was started with Culver and Culver batteries for Little Sandusky and P. Streng for the Independents. The Marion Independents made their only score in the first inning. Little Sandusky scored three in the first inning, five in the third, one in the fourth, three in the sixth and one in the eighth.

The highlight of the game was in the eighth round when L. Culver scored a home run.

Next Sunday Little Sandusky will meet the Bucyrus Quakers on Fowler field at Little Sandusky.

SNATCHES OF SPORTS

By EDDIE BRIETZ
By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Tom Gallery and Joe (Napoleon) Levy, rival Los Angeles fight promoters are warring over outdoor dates. Bill Terry is going to have a "day" here soon, but the real news is that the prime mover is a Brooklyn fan—Lafayette Ouch. Gen. Jim J. Phelan, boss of the New York boxing commission was supposed to sail for Europe last night on business connected with his brassiere factory. One of the best informed baseball writers in New York yesterday referred to Dizzy Dean as the great southpaw. Old Diz may be a bit left handed in the head but not in the solid bone pal.

Tommy Fare isn't burning up the woods in batting practice. Note to Ike Traynor: Do you know other National League clubs are swiping your signals with the greatest of ease? Catcher Al Todd stands a certain way when a fast ball is coming but always shifts slightly for a curve. Joe DiMaggio's current secret desire is to meet Babe Ruth. If Lou Gehrig didn't receive checks from two breakfast food concerns after his bull on the air the other night, he should have.

Is that good old Max Baer you hear popping off? That former Duke university star now making a name for himself as a heavyweight can go under the wire of any one of a half dozen New York fight managers if he wants to (can't spell his name but it's Polish). Reports persist Bill Terry will sacrifice Gus Mancuso in next winter's campaign to build up the Giants and that old Gus (who surely rates the chance) will hob up as manager of either the Pirates or Phillies.

Don Budge and the other victorious Davis cuppers dock tomorrow. Mike Jacobs will be among the greeters and so will Bill O'Brien. They ain't interested in seeing the cup either. What they want is Budge's signature as a pro. They say Jacobs always walks fast when the fight business is going to suit him. Well he was mighty near loping on his way to the Mannequin for lunch yesterday.

First three horses in next week's Hambletonian figure to be Schnapps, Twilight Song and Desola but not necessarily in that order. Bob Pastor is cleaning up on the races at Saratoga.

NEW YORK—Solly Krieger, 166, New York, knocked out Joe Jeboro, 165, N. J. (6).

SCRANTON, Pa.—Eddie Fring, 155, Scranton, knocked out Bucky Keyes, 154, Jersey City (8).

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Dean Detton, 205, Salt Lake City, defeated Nick Lutze, 210, San Diego, Calif. (two out of three falls).

RED BIRDS DROPPED FROM FIRST PLACE BY MILLERS' VICTORY

Minneapolis Home Run Barrage Sets Columbus Back to Second Spot.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—The Minneapolis Millers were back on top today in the American Association's blistering pennant battle thanks to an intra-club struggle between Red Kress and Roy Pfleger for the league home run hitting leadership.

The Millers trounced Columbus last night, 7 to 1, to shove the Red Birds back into second place and a homer apiece by Kress and Pfleger accounted for five of the seven runs. Kress connected for his 23rd of the campaign and Pfleger's was his 21st.

Toledo remained one game back of first place and a half game behind Columbus by scoring a run in the ninth to defeat St. Paul 3 to 2. The winning run was scored after a disputed fourth ball decision gave Ed Coleman a walk. The only pass issued by Bill Cox.

Minneapolis staged a 22 hit carnival at the expense of Al Milnar and Bill Zuber to wallop Milwaukee 10 to 4. Every Indian safely at least once including pitcher Johnson who collected three blows in addition to keeping 12 Brewer safeties fairly well scattered.

Kansas City defeated Louisville 5 to 2 for its seventh victory in the last nine home games.

VETERANS GET BETTER CARE

Hines Tells D. A. V. of 2,638 Additional Beds and More To Come.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 4—Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, federal administrator of veterans' affairs, brought to the national convention of the Disabled American Veterans of the World war today a report of increased hospital facilities for veterans' care during the past year.

The gain was 2,638 beds, he said, and a 39-project program in progress would add 9,261 more. Nineteen other projects are planned to add another 1,000 beds, he said, as part of veterans administration plans to provide a total of approximately 77,000 beds by July, 1938.

Gen. Hines told the veterans that a total of 57,265 veteran patients were being taken care of as of June 30 and that hospital staffs were being given training to keep them abreast of medical developments.

Of the hospital at Dayton, O., Gen. Hines reported that special fever therapy equipment had been installed for treatment of such diseases as arthritis and certain inflammatory conditions and that "the results of this care and treatment have proven to be most satisfactory."

"The real solution to the problem in its broader aspects rests in the employment of the veteran in his own community in jobs for which he is qualified to perform by aptitude, ability, training and experience," said Gen. Hines.

Meanwhile, the Michigan delegation offered a resolution to ban street peddlers, calling them a "vicious nuisance." The resolution contended that "these articles (small flags and trinkets) are sold by high pressure salesmen in an offensive manner" and that the practice in "causing us to be considered chiselers by the general public."

Said Police Chief John H. Dunn: "If we find them stopping pedestrians today with their high handed tactics, we'll stop them and make them get off the streets."

A morning business session and honoring of past commanders were today's convention high spots.

Atlantic City's bid for next year's meeting will be considered Friday when officers also will be elected. Adjournment will be Saturday.

Mr. Pifer was in Bucyrus this morning conferring with Crawford county officials on plans for the encampment.

Greeley's 'Go West' Advice Leads To No Pot Of Gold

By The Associated Press

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 4—A rich publisher's son required just a week to discover that Editor Horace Greeley's advice of "go west, young man, go west," needn't be taken too literally today.

It was on Tuesday of last week that 19-year-old Alfred A. Knopf Jr., son of a prominent New York publisher, walked out of a Norwood, Mass., publishing company—with $15 in his pockets and Reno, Nev., and "some kind of a job" as his goal.

And it was yesterday, another Tuesday, that, penniless, hungry and worn to exhaustion on the rocky road to Reno, he took refuge at the police station here until funds arrived from home.

Today he was enroute by plane to New York City.

"I tried every way possible to find a job when I went broke, but I couldn't get one anywhere," the graduate of smart Phillips-Exeter academy told newspapermen here. He was barefooted—to rest his aching feet—and his shirt tail was out.

"I was heading for Reno, where I knew some rich people and figured I could get work.

"I rode trains and buses to Columbus, O., then hitch-hiked the rest of the way, mostly with truck drivers.

"While I was in Rawlins and Laramie, Wyo., I read the classified advertising sections of the papers to see if I could land a job. By the time I got to Salt Lake I was broke and hadn't eaten in 48 hours."

A tramp, he explained stole his extra clothing and his wallet, containing $2, as he slept beside the highway near Grantsville, Utah.

"In Salt Lake City," Knopf continued, "I canvassed several hotels for a job, any kind of job, but was refused.

"I didn't care what kind of work I got—bell hop, dishwasher, anything. But there wasn't a thing for me anywhere. I had to write home for money—or starve."

Tea leaves grow so rapidly that they can be harvested every seven or eight days from the same plant.

JUDGE MAY BE SELECTED SOON

Roosevelt Expected To Name Van Devanter's Successor Before Session Ends.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—The belief that President Roosevelt will nominate a successor to Justice Van Devanter before congress adjourns increased today among high administration supporters.

Mr. Roosevelt himself gave that impression yesterday in a press conference in which he repeatedly talked of the time when the nomination "goes to the senate."

A recess appointment, such as Attorney General Cummings said was permissible, would not go to the senate until next year.

Pressed by Advisers

Some of the President's advisers said they were urging him to make the selection if possible while congress is in session, so that the supreme court might be at full strength for the fall term without a recess appointment.

Sen. Vandenberg, Republican of Michigan has offered a resolution to declare the sense of the senate against such a recess selection.

Sen. Borah, Republican of Idaho, contended yesterday that there was no vacancy on the court. He obtained some support from Republicans, but all Democrats who voiced an opinion differed with him, even those who fought the President on the supreme court reorganization bill.

The President did not comment directly on Borah's view at his press conference, but did assert he had the power to name a new justice.

Depends on When They Quit

Some informed authorities said whether the President nominated a successor to Justice Van Devanter before congress adjourned depended on the length of the session.

They said he personally was checking closely the background of 60 or 70 possibilities, instead of delegating the work to the justice department as usual.

Among senators the opinion was prevalent that the President would select someone from the southeast, the southwest, or the middle west. They said other sections of the country were more than proportionately represented on the present court.

This attitude, if held by the President, would exclude many of those who have been mentioned, including Sen. Wagner, Democrat of New York. Wagner's friends already had said, however, that he was not a likely selection.

It was understood in some quarters the President desired if possible to promote some judge from the lower courts.

Donahey Opposed To Rushing Roosevelt

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—Ohio's junior senator, Vic Donahey, spoke out today against any attempts to "hurry" President Roosevelt's selection of a supreme court member to succeed former Justice Van Devanter.

The Ohio Democrat, an opponent of several new deal measures, said in an interview "it is the President's prerogative to decide when and whom to appoint." He said he saw no objection to an appointment after congress adjourns.

AMERICAN WRITER FLEES RAIDING JAPS

By The Associated Press

PEIPING, Aug. 4—An American writer and his wife reached Peiping from a Buddhist temple refuge today with a story of ruthless warfare.

The Americans—Mr. and Mrs. Geno Lamb of Washington, D. C.—had been isolated in the temple, northwest of Peiping, since the outbreak of Chinese-Japanese hostilities in the area.

"A Japanese motorized brigade came in from Manchukuo. They had hundreds of tanks. They went through the Chinese troops like a scythe through wheat.

"We saw them bombard Hwiyuan, but they didn't stop with that. Their airplanes zoomed over, spitting machine gun bullets at helpless Chinese there and in nearby villages.

"Saturday, Japanese troops invaded my compound. The American flag was flying over it but they paid no attention to that.

"They took out food and anything they thought might be valuable, including $300. Then they had the nerve to offer me a drink of my own beer.

"I didn't see it, but I can produce at least 30 Chinese farmers who will swear that Japanese troops looted homes, threw children from the windows and doors, and attacked girls and women.

"Some of the retreating Chinese who didn't cross the Yungting river took to the hills and began plundering."

Lamb said he hoped to return to the hills to rescue an estimated 200 Chinese girls from summer camps.

TOWN NEAR MADRID OCCUPIED BY REBELS

By The Associated Press

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Aug. 4—Insurgent infantry and artillery were reported today to have hammered the point of Gen. Jose Miaja's salient back out of Villanueva De La Canada on Madrid's western front.

Although the official insurgent communique gave no details of the blow against Madrid's offensive, government sources said Miaja's troops "abandoned" the war torn village, about 15 miles west of the beleaguered metropolis, as a strategic move to consolidate positions northeast of the town.

KILLER OF THREE CAUGHT; TO FACE SPEEDY TRIAL

Bloodhounds Rout Murder Suspect from Brush Covered Wild Lands of Minnesota.

By The Associated Press

ALBERT LEA, Minn., Aug. 4—Jens Thompson, triple slaying suspect, routed from soggy brush by bloodhounds and captured in the desolate hill country 100 miles southeast of here late yesterday faced speedy justice today.

A special district court grand jury convened today as the 36-year-old farmer sat in a county jail cell.

His hands and face weathered and his clothing torn by brambles and jagged rocks during the 12 days he eluded posse men, Thompson still was pronounced in "remarkably good physical condition" by physicians.

Thompson, quoted by Sheriff Arthur Brown of Houston county as talking glibly about the rifle slaying of the three Lukes brothers, Louis, Joe and Anton, the afternoon of July 22, said he slept in tree tops and barns.

He lived mainly by eating green corn, wild berries and hazelnuts while hiding in the rattle-snake infested backwoods country.

Sheriff Brown said Thompson recounted how he slid down a 30 foot cliff once to elude his pursuers, how another time he stood within 100 feet of possemen as they swept by and how he watched from a hayloft of a barn while men, armed with machine guns and rifles, searched the ground floor and nearby woods.

His face freshly shaved, Thompson said he bought a razor in Houston, four miles from the scene of his capture, yesterday, a few hours after a fresh tip that he had taken directions at a farm home sent possemen out again into a new cloudburst. Late in the day, bloodhounds successfully picked up his trail after three men reported having seen the suspect cross a country road.

Bob Dunn, Eau Claire, Wis. Tribune police reporter, who with George Brooks of Eau Claire, actually effected the capture, said Thompson asserted he had first decided to shoot it out when trapped but changed his mind when two of the dogs dashed up to his brush hideout and leaped upon him. They said Thompson raised his hands and shouted: "I give up; I give up," as the dogs closed in.

Sheriff Brown said Thompson, in giving his reason for shooting the brothers asserted that "they ruined my life and I thought I was entitled to end theirs."

The Lukes brothers were each shot through the head as they worked in the harvest fields. Faye Lukes, twelve year old son of Louis, is recovering from a rifle wound in the chest.

Bustle Is Back As Paris Styles Recall the 1880's

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Aug. 4—Modified bustles—brought out of the mists of the 1880's—were featured at today's showings of new Paris fashions.

With back draperies recalling the elegant modes of the 19th century, romantic styles came back to the fashion stage.

Victorian-inspired black velvet frocks were shown trimmed in old style lace. Striped satins and high waists rounded directoire notes.

Patou showed embroideries of old style bugle beads replacing modern paillettes. His tiny jetted muffs dated back to the Edwardian period. Rare patterned white laces trimmed dinner gowns of black and deep blue velvets while tulle evening dresses were shown with full skirts and tight satin bodices. Narrow evening skirts were spiral trimmed with waving silk fringes.

The new Florentine red created by Patou is a light wine shade; his armour green is the color of ancient metal. A great deal of black is being used and many black afternoon dresses had transparent yokes and sleeves under fitted jackets.

One and two piece stain dresses featured slim, straight lines with no belts. High necks were stressed as well as diagonal closings.

COUNTY 4-H PICNIC TO BE HELD AUG. 17

Junior Fair Plans and Judging Awards To Be Made Public Same Day.

The annual Marion county 4-H club picnic has been set for Aug. 17, Raymond Pifer, assistant county farm agent in charge of 4-H club work, announced today. At the same time rules for the Ohio State Junior fair and the schedule for judging clothing projects were made public.

The details of the picnic will be announced later. Members were urged by Mr. Pifer to make plans for bringing parents and friends to the picnic.

Copies of the state junior fair rules have been forwarded to club leaders and members may obtain information from them, Mr. Pifer said. Members, wishing to enter, should notify the county agent of their desire and the entry will be forwarded by Mr. Pifer to Columbus. The deadline is Aug. 10.

The clothing projects of girls in 4-H clubs will be judged Aug. 18, 19 and 20. All work should be finished and displayed with members' record books on the day the club's work is graded. Mothers and friends are invited to attend the judgings, Mr. Pifer said.

AMENDMENTS FAIL TO GET ON BALLOT

Four Proposed Changes in Constitution Lack Required Signatures.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 4—Sponsors of four proposed constitutional amendments failed today to qualify for a place on the Nov. 2 ballot.

Sponsors of a fifth proposed amendment—to legalize lotteries—had not indicated that they would have sufficient petitioners. The deadline for filing is 6 p. m.

Joseph C. Hostetler of Cleveland chairman of the Ohio committee on jud cial selection, in announcing that sufficient signatures had not been obtained, said a campaign would be continued to place before voters in 1938 a proposal to require the appointment of state appellate and supreme court judges. They now are elected.

Paul D. Smith, secretary of a committee for adoption of the Massachusetts form of ballot, said that approximately 150,000 signatures had been obtained and that efforts would be continued to obtain the required 300,000 in time for the 1938 election.

The Massachusetts ballot lists candidates in columns by offices, instead of by politics.

Proponents of constitutional amendments to establish a unicameral legislature and limit the interest rate on small loans to six per cent did not circulate petitions, the secretary of state's office said.

NEW TYPE BALLOT DEADLINE TODAY

Insufficient Signatures to Petitions Seen Likely by Paul Smith.

Probability of failure of the campaign to put to a vote in November the question of the adoption of the Massachusetts ballot in Ohio was seen today as the deadline for filing initiative petitions with the secretary of state neared. The opportunity to file 300,000 signatures required to place the question on the ballot in November ends at 6:30 tonight.

Paul D. Smith, Marion attorney, who is directing the campaign as state secretary, said here recently that he did not believe the 300,000 names will be obtained. Yesterday at his headquarters in Columbus he was reluctant to declare that the campaign would be successful, news reports stated.

The initiative proposal for the new ballot is so worded, however, as to permit use of names already obtained in a drive for filing in 1938, Mr. Smith said.

The Massachusetts ballot, used in 19 states, tends to prevent straight party voting by providing that no party emblems appear on the ballot and by listing candidates by office instead of by party. Voters must mark their choice for each office and can not put an X at the top of the column.

U. S. YACHT LEADS AS THIRD RACE STARTS

Endeavour II rounded the mark, set about eight miles south-east of Block Island at 1:47:59, four minutes 12 seconds behind the American defender.

As the rival yachts set off on their 15-mile beat to windward into a southwest wind, both were on the starboard tack. Vanderbilt had timed the start to a split second and crossed the line promptly at 11:40 a. m. for the finest getaway of the series.

Each yacht was wearing double head-rig with staysails and quadrilaterals.

Endeavour went over on the port tack four minutes after the start, a clear admission by Sopwith he was trailing and had no hope of passing to the weather side of the defender.

The promise of a brisk breeze—the wind had been blowing at a rate of about 12 miles an hour before the start—was unfulfilled as it moderated to about 10 miles.

The race began with Ranger immediately drawing away from the challenger. In 10 minutes the defender had opened up a lead of about six lengths.

Sopwith, who yesterday unloaded over 5,000 pounds of ballast from his blue-hulled craft, inaugurated a short tacking match, in which Vanderbilt followed him for the first new tacks and then apparently decided to ignore the Britisher and sail the course himself.

This left Endeavour on the port tack and Ranger on the starboard. Sopwith has claimed that Endeavour is faster than Ranger in stays and, if this is true, it indicated that Vanderbilt is too cunning to play into the Englishman's hands.

When Ranger finally came about on the port tack, she occupied a commanding weather berth. A victory for the American boat would leave her needing only one more to retain the international trophy held in this country since the schooner-yacht America went to England to capture it in 1851.

After negotiating about six miles to windward, Ranger appeared to be approximately 400 yards ahead. Sopwith pointed higher into the wind as both continued on the port tack but Endeavour wasn't footing as smoothly.

The wind was fickle but the whitecaps dotting the sea were conspicuous enough to indicate it was blowing over 12 miles per hour by 12:35.

MRS. CHARLES TURNER STRICKEN SUDDENLY

Wife of Retired Marion Grocer Dies While Visiting Sister in Elyria.

Mrs. Alice Amy Turner, 74, wife of Charles Turner of 429 South State street, retired Marion grocer, died suddenly of a heart attack yesterday while on a visit with her sister in Elyria.

Death came at 9 a. m., a short time after she was stricken. When she left a week ago for the visit Mrs. Turner appeared in good health and her death came as a shock to her family. She died in the home where she spent her girlhood and where she was married.

Mrs. Turner was a member of the First Presbyterian church and was devoted to church work, particularly missions. Recognition of the active interest of Mrs. Turner and Mrs. S. E. Barlow of 1126 East Center street in mission work was given about 10 years ago when both were honored with life memberships in the Woman's Missionary society of the church. Mrs. Turner was an active member and a past president of the Current Topic club of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs.

Her husband retired in 1919 after years in the grocery business in the room at the southeast corner of Center and State streets.

Mrs. Turner was born in Elyria on Nov. 17, 1862, to Thomas and Hannah Smith Biggs, both natives of Leicester, England. Her marriage to Mr. Turner took place on Oct. 14, 1885 in Elyria. They would have observed their fifty second wedding anniversary this year.

Surviving with the husband are six daughters, Misses Amy, Catherine and Martha Turner, at home; Mrs. David Sizer of Charlottsville, Va., Mrs. J. W. Connell of Coraopolis, Pa., and Miss Abbie Turner of Arpinwall, Pa., six grandchildren, and the sister at whose home she died, Mrs. Annie D. Everard. Miss Martha Turner is a teacher in the Shaker Heights O. school. A daughter, Elizabeth, died 18 years ago and a son, Thomas Edward, died in infancy.

The funeral service will be conducted Thursday at 4 p. m. at the home by Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Friends may call at the home.

The body will be placed in the Marion cemetery vault, pending the arrival of Miss Abbie Turner, who sailed today from England where she has spent the summer. Burial will be made on the family lot in the cemetery.

serted. Neighbors there told them. Ewert returned to it about 8 p. m. with a child the age of Donald and a young couple frequently seen with him about the building.

Neighbors also told authorities the young couple walked down an adjoining alley leading the boy and Ewert drove off in an automobile. Later Ewert returned and left in his own car with his wife and two daughters.

From Horst, Burns said he learned Dr. Rose had left Monday to visit his family in Batavia, N. Y. Police said Dr. Rose had attempted to reach Horst yesterday by telephone but that Horst had been out when the call came.

Burns said Horst told him he was threatened with deportation as an alien some years ago as a result of trouble with a girl who wanted him to marry her. This was before the marriage to Mrs. Horst, the former Martha Szyba-ki of Duluth, Minn., Burns said.

Four years ago, Horst told the captain, he was the target of two extortion demands for $500 which he turned over to police. Two years ago he shot a robber who eventually was sent to prison with a companion.

The Horsts first told police Donald was born in a hospital. Later Horst told Burns the youngster was born in a private home because his mother was unable to reach a hospital in time.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 4—Deputy Coroner J. L. Davidson ordered a 'thorough investigation' today in the death last night of Johnny Page, Chicago lightweight, 24 hours after he was knocked out by Eddie Zivic.

PLANES BLAST CHINESE ARMY

Japanese Fliers Clear Way for March Southward from Peiping.

By The Associated Press

PEIPING, Aug. 4—Japanese authorities proclaimed today that continuous bombardments by squadrons of warplanes had routed western concentrations of the Chinese army and blasted a clear path for the southward march of Japanese troops from this conquered Manchu capital.

The Japanese statement declared that the Chinese troops, reported to have been concentrated in force at Paotingfu 85 miles south of here, "perished or fled during the air bombardment."

The announcement, scattered from the sky by Japanese planes in a pamphlet bombardment, proudly stated "all north Hopeh province has been occupied. The troops of the Nanking government will not come north. If they do the Japanese will strike immediately."

Major Battle Looms

A major engagement was expected, however, at Nankow pass 20 miles north of Peiping where 4,000 Japanese troops were massed for an attack on the Chinese positions north of the Great Wall.

All Japanese nationals were ordered to evacuate Kalgan, Chinese stronghold and capital of Chahar province 100 miles to the northwest.

The government of China, apprehensive of the safety of the 8,000 Chinese in Japan, was reported to have started their evacuation from the inland empire.

While the Japanese troops at the Great Wall prepared to strike at the Chinese forces in the north, two reinforced Japanese armies, marching in parallel columns in eastern and western Hopeh province, pushed steadily southward against the main defense lines of the Chinese central government troops.

Invasion Bears Fruit

The first fruits of the conquest of north China were believed borne today when the autonomous government of East Hopeh announced it was opening its administrative offices in Peiping. Headquarters of the Japanese dominated regime had been at Tungchow, 12 miles to the east, until now. Establishments of such a government for virtually all of north China was believed to be one of Japan's major objectives in the undeclared war.

Peiping itself was quiet and all foreigners who have been living in the tent cities set up in the embassy compounds returned to us lerat temporary residence in their homes.

CITY ROAD ROLLER BIDS ARE REJECTED

Service Director Says Purchase Will Be Delayed Until Finances Improve.

Three bids for the proposed purchase of a new gasoline road roller for use in construction and maintenance of city streets, were rejected Monday, Service Director John V. Ruth announced today. "The bids were rejected," Ruth said, "because the city decided not to buy a roller at the present time."

"The purchase will not be made until finances of the service department permit immediate payment," Mr. Ruth said. Three bids had been received on the recent authorization of city council for the purchase of the machine. Bids were submitted by the Huber Manufacturing Co., and the Hercules Co., both of Marion and the Galion Iron Works of Galion.

The Huber company offered low price of $359.20 and in addition also proposed to cancel roller repair bills incurred by the city in 1934 and 1935 amounting to $258.12. With this offer in consideration the company's proposal was low by $594.32.

MARION PLAYERS AT THOMPSON FUNERAL

League Officials Also Attend Rites For Team Owner.

James Geygan, manager of Marion's Ohio State league baseball team, and the complete playing roster of the club, yesterday attended funeral services at Toledo for Robert R. Thompson, 55, owner of the team, who died at his home of heart trouble, last Saturday.

The team and manager journeyed with the funeral cortege from Toledo to Forest in Hardin county for burial services. Among those associated with the Ohio State baseball league, many of them known here, who attended the funeral were Harry Smith of Columbus, president of the league; Charles Lecrone of Tiffin, business manager of the Tiffin team; Frank Ward of Tiffin, treasurer of the league and Dudley McFadgen of Sandusky, vice-president of the league.

THEATER AD BOOERS READY FOR ACTION

By The Associated Press

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 4—A group of young business men will file into a Little Rock theater tonight for the first public appearance of the "Society for Booing of Commercial Advertisements in Motion Picture Theaters."

The idea, said Secretary M. C. Blackman, will be "just a little genteel, well-modulated booing by a competent boo leader."

"Listen for the signal," he urged members in announcements directed at all "weary and resentful of having commercial advertisements inflicted upon you when you have paid for entertainment."

But there'll be "nothing rough or rowdy," he said.

MARION MAN SENDS GIFT TO NEWLYWED KID M'COY

George Hildebrand, Whose Father Promoted Fight in Africa Finds Old Training Camp Picture.

Kid McCoy, former world's middleweight champion, who became his ninth honeymoon yesterday, will receive an unusual wedding gift from a Marion man whose father promoted the fight in which the Kid won his title. The gift is a copy of a picture taken at the training camp shortly before the battle.

George D. H. Hebrandt of 504 South State street, former Y. M. C. A. official here and now associated with Henry Troy, is the giver. Reading in The Star yesterday of McCoy's honeymoon plans, Mr. Hildebrandt remembered the old picture taken in 1896 in South Africa, showing McCoy, Mr. Hildebrandt's father, J. H. Hildebrandt, and several other persons, believed to have been sparring partners and managers of the Kid.

"The original picture," Mr. Hildebrandt said, "was cracked through the center, so I had a copy made and will send it to him as a surprise. It also shows Gunboat Ed Smith who later became a heavyweight champion."

Taken at Training Camp

The crack was caused by high water in the basement where the picture had been stored in a former home. It was taken at Johnnesburg at the Orange Grove training quarters of McCoy in Nov. 1896 and a short time later McCoy wrested the middleweight title from Bill Daugherty. The fight was only one of several promoted for McCoy by Mr. Hildebrandt who later took the Kid to England for a number of bouts.

McCoy has fought in 200 ring battles, losing only six. His marriage record is similarly impressive. Now 63 he has embarked on his ninth and last matrimonial venture. The tenth is taboo, sooo "The count me out at 10" the Kid said yesterday. His bride is Mrs. Sue Cobb Cowley of Detroit, 44 a distant relative of Irvin S. Cobb the humorist.

The Kid, born Norman Selby in Moscow, Ind., was married at Rushville, Ind., near his birthplace. He is employed in the personnel department of the Ford Motor Co. at Detroit where Mr. Hildebrandt is sending the picture.

Was Mining Engineer

Mr. Hildebrandt's father was by profession a mining engineer and had as his hobbies promotion of boxing or horse races or owning horses. He never engaged in promoting in America, but did in most other countries in the world, his son said. The son accompanied him on many of his trips, going around the world twice. On one occasion the father and son made a special trip from Capetown, South Africa to witness the Jeffries-Johnson fight at Reno.

He visited Marion only once while his son was associated with the Y. M. C. A. and never returned although he occasionally came to Sandusky, the closest he would come, the son said. The reason for not returning was that the father disapproved of hotel accommodations here in those days, being a veteran hotel owner. He died several years ago in Sandusky.

VETS' DELEGATION GOING TO MEETING

Marion To Be Represented in National Convention Parade at Columbus.

Plans to send a delegation from Marion to the national convention parade and fireworks display in Columbus Thursday night were made last night at a meeting of Marion Chapter No. 22, Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

All members who can are asked to attend the Columbus ceremonies. The parade will start at 6:30 p. m. and the fireworks display at 8:30.

An invitation has been extended to George Fout of Cleveland, newly elected state commander, and Mrs. Fout, new commander of the department of Ohio auxiliary, to come to Marion Aug. 17 for the installation of the new officers of the Marion chapter. All members and their wives are invited. A social program will be provided, including a lunch served by the women's auxiliary.

Russell Mouton senior vice commander presided last night. N. V. Foreman a delegate to the recent state convention in Columbus made a report on the proceedings. An award presented the chapter at the convention for its work in forming new chapters and in exceeding its membership quota will be framed and hung on the wall of the meeting room in the armory.

COUNTY CORN CROP TO BE ABOUT NORMAL

report by Mr. Anderson of corn 14 feet high in a field near the junction of Pleasant, Prospect and Green Camp townships near Prospect village. At this stage of the growth, a 14-foot stalk is unusual, Mr. Anderson said. He estimated that particular corn would grow several inches more this summer before cutting time.

Of the approximately 60,000 acres in Marion county planted in corn, Mr. Anderson estimated that between 3,000 and 6,000 acres were rendered a total loss by water in the fields. Still other acres were given "wet feet" by the high water and as a result have not developed normally and have an unhealthy yellow-green color, Mr. Anderson said.

Still another adverse effect of the high water has been that farmers have in many instances been unable to get into their fields for cultivation. As a result there are weeds rife throughout the county and some fields have not been weeded at all, Mr. Anderson said.

Probably the only section of the county that escaped serious damage is the southeastern part which has far better drainage and generally better land than some other parts of the county, Mr. Anderson said.

Average Yield Here

Corn is not the only crop in the county that has suffered from the weather this summer. Oats have been damaged both in quality and quantity, largely due to the fact that rains came here at a critical time in its growth, just when blossoms were appearing and prevented proper pollination. Late seedings, delayed by rain, caused the crop to mature during the hot July days, a situation which also was injurious.

Just as there is good corn remaining, there is also excellent oats to be found scattered through the county, Mr. Anderson said.

The harvesting of the oats here is about completed, many farmers having been using combines for the last several days. Wheat is virtually all in also, although many farmers are reported holding it either for use as stock feed or for better prices.

The Associated Press dispatch yesterday placed the experts' estimate of the 1937 corn crop at $1,750,000,000, the biggest money crop since 1929. The production was estimated at 2,771,000,000 bushels, largest since 1932 when 2,926,000,000 bushels were harvested.

MARION POSTAL RECEIPTS SHOWING GAIN OVER 1936

Postmaster L. L. Lamborn Makes Report on Activities for Year; Figures Show Continued Increase.

Marion postoffice receipts are showing a definite increase over last year's income, Postmaster L. L. Lamborn reported today.

Sales of stamps and supplies and postage totaled $10,695.15 in July, 1.6 per cent higher than in July, 1936, while an increase of 6.5 per cent was shown in receipts for the first six months of this year, Mr. Lamborn said.

Mr. Lamborn pointed out that while annual receipts of the Marion office are listed at figures ranging from $140,000 to $150,000, the office in reality handles a business volume of around $1,000,000 annually. The larger figure includes sales of bonds and money orders and postal savings deposits and amounts passing through the Marion office but not figuring in its annual or monthly reports of income.

Actual income for the first six months of this year totaled $73,211.06, as compared to a total of $70,358.19 in the same period in 1936. The increase was $4,852.56.

The half-year's income indicates that 1937 will continue the upward trend of postal receipts, a trend which began in 1934 after receipts had dropped to a record low in 1933.

Postal income here reached a peak of more than $150,000 in 1928. A decline began the next year, continuing until receipts fell to $111,901.01 in 1933, a figure lower than the one recorded away back in 1922.

Income in 1936 was $145,852.16, while 1937 passed the half-way mark with more than $75,000, indicating at least a $150,000 total for this year, Mr. Lamborn explained.

Mr. Lamborn also announced the results of an annual checkup of rural free delivery routes, seven of which are operated out of the Marion postoffice.

The routes cover a total of 311.64 miles, with an average of 11,000 pieces of mail delivered over the seven routes each day. There are 1,410 boxes on the rural routes, serving 1,413 families which are made up of 5,255 persons, the checkup disclosed.

The longest route is No. 3, serving the northwest section of the county, along the Harding Highway-west and an area around Meeker. This route is 54.3 miles in length.

MARION FIRE LOSS FOR JULY LOWER

Fire loss in Marion for July was $2,500, only one-sixth as large as for the corresponding period a year ago, according to a report issued this morning by Fire Chief T. J. McFarland. The loss last month was largely accounted for by a blaze which caused damage estimated at $2,500 to the McElhaney furniture warehouse at the rear of 146 North Main street.

Loss in July of last year totaled $15,000, including a blaze at the Masonic Temple which resulted in damage estimated at $14,162. Last month city firemen answered a total of 16 calls, or considerably less than half of the 43 calls answered in July of last year.

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Strokes.

CEREBRAL HEMORRHAGE, more commonly known as "stroke" or apoplexy, is an alarming and serious affair. Its symptoms result from bleeding caused by rupture of one of the blood vessels of the brain.

I am frequently asked whether a stroke causes permanent paralysis. Often I am asked whether stroke is the result of high blood pressure. Others inquire whether this emergency is met only in elderly persons.

In order to answer these questions, it is necessary to explain the mechanism of apoplexy. As a rule, it occurs in those who suffer from high blood pressure or hardening of the arteries. But it may be caused by other conditions, such as heart disease, tumor of the brain, tuberculosis or some other condition. The amount of the hemorrhage, as well as the location of the ruptured blood vessel, determines the extent of injury and the degree of paralysis.

The victim of cerebral hemorrhage may suffer from complete paralysis of one side of the body. This is called "hemiplegia" and may involve the entire half of the body, including one side of the face, one arm and leg and one side of the trunk. If the legs and trunk alone are involved, the paralysis is called paraplegia. Monoplegia is a paralysis of a single extremity, the leg or arm.

It must be borne in mind, too, that many victims of cerebral hemorrhage escape paralysis, or if they have paralysis, it is of an extremely mild and temporary in its nature. These are fortunate persons because, if they heed the warning, they will escape further attacks and avoid serious paralysis at a later time.

Paralysis due to cerebral hemorrhage is not always permanent. Certain factors determine the extent of the injury. Whether the paralysis is permanent or temporary can only be decided after close observation of the patient for several days. The doctor who is familiar with the case often can determine the seriousness of the paralysis.

As I have pointed out, cerebral hemorrhage usually occurs in high blood pressure, but it may also result from some other ailment. Since it usually gives some warning sign, it can often be prevented by proper care. When neglected, the evil possibilities cannot be avoided.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send an addressed, stamped envelope with their questions. Address all letters to Dr. Copeland in care of this newspaper.

FURTHER CROP CONTROL ASKED

Roosevelt Claims Restrictions Needed To Avoid Wrecked Economy.

By United Press

WASHINGTON Aug 4 — President Roosevelt said yesterday that unless the nation's economic structure is to be wrecked further crop control is necessary, and he has no intention of authorizing federal loans on cotton until such legislation is enacted

The President expressed his views at a press conference after Senators Hugo L Black Democrat of Alabama and Theodore G Bilbo Democrat of Mississippi, had introduced a resolution directing the Commodity Credit Corp to lend 12 cents a pound on this years cotton crop at 3¼ per cent interest.

Chairman Ellison D (Cotton Ed) Smith, Democrat of South Carolina, of the senate agriculture committee, at the same time was informing Senate Majority Leader Alben W Barkley that his group probably would have a general farm bill ready for action in the next congressional session

There have been administration hints that if crop prices continue to slump in the face of bumper production congress may be reconvened in special session in October to stop by legislation the piling up of additional surpluses

Mr Roosevelt said his statements applied to cotton wheat, corn, hogs and other farm products The country he asserted will demand federal control once it appears that heavy surpluses will dry up the buying power of half the nation

Mr Roosevelt said he had no intention of asking congress to lend more, on the crop without more effective control over its size or of exercising the lending powers now in the Commodity Credit Corp The soil conservation act he added is table only a minimum of control

He argued that to lend money without curtailing production would bankrupt the treasury, and that loans and control go hand in hand

Earlier Smith had called the 14,500,000-bale estimate a "pure unadulterated guess"

NEW GRAND JURY PROBE LOOMS IN LAWRENCE CO.

State Examiner Reports Findings for Recovery Totaling $46,329 With $4,344 Repaid.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Aug 4—Lawrence county faced another grand jury investigation of its official affairs today on the heels of a state examiner report listing findings for recovery totaling $46 329 with $4 344 of that amount reported repaid The report covered the period of May 1 1934 to July 12 1936

State Auditor Joseph T Ferguson said his office and that of Atty Gen Herbert S Duffy would attempt to have a grand jury sift charges of irregularities made by Examiners Irvin Young and W H Howland

That county needs a good cleaning up Ferguson declared

A petit jury disagreed recently after the trial of four persons charged with ballot tampering and illegal entry of the board of election office A new trial was granted

A grand jury impanelled at the request of Gov Martin L Davey failed to indict anyone although Duffy said one official confessed that he took $1 000 of county funds

The examiners report included a finding that the county general fund owed the county debt fund $29 000 and another that $2 625 had been paid illegally from the county treasury to the Lawrence county agricultural society

The examiners said there was no record of the society's board of directors having met since Feb 8 1935, and no fair had been held since 1934

The report said some members of the board had turned in expense accounts for rooms in Columbus hotels at $14 a day when the hotel records showed they paid $3

A supplemental report said it was apparent that there had been certain irregularities resulting in the payment from the debt fund for bonds and coupons a sum greater than the bonds and coupons due within the period covered by the examination

DELAWARE COUNCIL BARS SOLICITING

Special to The Star

DELAWARE O Aug 4—The Green River ordinance which declares house-to-house soliciting a nuisance was passed by a vote of five to two at a meeting this week of city council Council passed the ordinance sponsored by Delaware merchants over Mayor Sidney A Rowland's veto

Proponents of the measure have pointed out that it will halt the disturbing of housewives by door-to-door salesmen and will protect Delaware merchants Although wording of the ordinance makes it illegal for any solicitor whether or not he is a resident of Delaware city or county, to attempt to make house-to-house sales those backing the measure pointed out that police could avoid arresting residents of the city or county making such sales

Beverly Kelley, furniture merchant said Do you think out-of-town salesmen will give support to the city? Let's pull in the welcome mat and put the bars up against commercial gypsies If you're going to sell the town down the river, let's not sell it for nothing"

AL. SMITH AND SEABURY FIGHT NEW YORK BATTLE

Ex Governor Backs Copeland as Tammany Tries To Come Back by Defeating Fusionists and La Guardia.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug 4—Two veteran strategists both embittered by failure to realize their own political ambitions were pitted against each other today in a titanic behind the-scenes struggle for control of city hall.

They were former Gov Alfred E Smith emerging from political retirement to back the mayoralty candidacy of Sen Royal S Copeland and former Judge Samuel Seabury, the principal supporter of Mayor F H. La Guardia, who is seeking reelection.

New Deal Involved

By the very nature of their respective candidates it became inevitable that the outcome should carry an implied approval or disapproval of the national administration

Should Sen. Copeland lose it would be the first time that Tammany failed to make a comeback after one term by a "reform" mayor, and the ancient wigwam, already weakened by the lack of patronage under La Guardia's fusion regime might suffer its worst setback.

Such an eventuality no doubt would be highly gratifying to Seabury who resigned from the state court of appeals in 1935 to run for governor with Tammany's indorsement, only to be "rolled" at the polls

Seabury's Revenge

He was so disillusioned by the treachery which cost him a 14-year term on the state's highest court that he went into retirement, devoting the next 15 years to amassing a fortune in private practice

Then came the legislative investigation of municipal affairs, during the administration of James J Walker. It was an opportunity for revenge Eagerly he accepted the post of counsel and with the crusading zeal of his clergymen ancestors, set about exposing the "tin box brigade"—the politicians who attributed their wealth to mysterious tin boxes which seemed always to be filled with currency.

Another Blow Dealt

The darling of Tammany 'Jimmie Walker resigned complaining of unfairness

Seabury, his icy blue eyes glittering with secret amusement, then dealt another telling blow against Tammany by organizing a successful fusion movement behind Rep La Guardia in the 1933 campaign

And now he is out to complete the job by attempting to smash Tammany's comeback tradition

Although they were born only 10 months apart in downtown Manhattan Smith and Seabury never before have met head-on in political combat.

PARALYSIS CENTERS IN HAMILTON COUNTY

Area Contains More Than Two-Thirds of 90 Cases Reported in State.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O Aug 4 — Dr Finley Van Orsdall, chief of the state division of communicable diseases said today that more than two-thirds of the 90 cases of infantile paralysis reported in Ohio since July 1 were in Hamilton county

There were 61 cases of the malady in Hamilton county Licking county was second with 10 Preble county reported three cases during the past five weeks

During July and the first week in August last year only nine cases were reported

Counties having a variable climate are affected most by poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) and statistics show that the disease starts increasing in July reaching the greatest number of cases in September Dr Van Orsdall said

"It is spread by health carriers rather than by food or water The disease may develop slowly or may result in sudden attack evidenced by any one of many symptoms The death rate is high and many who are infected are crippled

The disease first was reported in serious proportions in Sweden in 1881 and deaths in Ohio were reported first in 1901 From 125 cases and 62 deaths in 1913 the disease increased until in 1927 there were 1 205 cases and 167 deaths

The disease when called infantile paralysis is misleading as adults can contract it although it is more prevalent in children Dr Van Orsdall said

Other counties reporting cases include Clinton Crawford Franklin Meigs Montgomery Coshocton, Butler Fayette Putnam Cuyahoga and Vinton with one each, and two cases each in Summit and Ashtabula counties

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS REVIVALIST

GALION COUNCIL ADOPTS BUDGET

Special to The Star

[illegible] Aug. 3 — The budget [illegible] fiscal year 1938, calling [illegible] expenses and bond [illegible] $12,894.75 for the city, [illegible] was adopted at a meeting [illegible] Council Tuesday night. [illegible] estimates $65,866 needed [illegible] general fund, and [illegible] bond retirement. It [illegible] presented at the council [illegible] weeks ago, and was [illegible] night at the schedule hearing.

[illegible] for the city's share [illegible] Pickle Run Improvement [illegible] also to provide for poor [illegible] unemployment insurance [illegible] light departments, a [illegible] annual appropriation [illegible] was passed for current [illegible] during the present fiscal [illegible] Dec. 31, 1937. This [illegible] $500 as the city's [illegible] Pickle Run improvement [illegible] to be taken from the [illegible] $1,000 was appropriated from the general fund for purposes which falls [illegible] this year; the amount [illegible] was appropriated from the [illegible] fund for the state [illegible] compensation; and [illegible] the electric light fund [illegible] state unemployment [illegible]

An ordinance was passed directing the public service director to [illegible] and receive bids to enter [illegible] for the purpose of [illegible] 3,600 feet of single wire [illegible] to exceed 1,200 feet [illegible] cable for use by the [illegible] department in improvements being made at the [illegible] here.

Council also passed a resolution directing the city engineer to prepare and file plans and specifications and estimates of the cost of constructing sewer addition on Center and East streets. After a [illegible] the city solicitor was directed to draw up another [illegible] for sewer plans on Seventh avenue and Smith street.

MT. GILEAD COUNCIL PLANS STREET WORK

Resurfacing Job Under Consideration After Citizens Complain of Conditions.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Aug. 4—Council Monday night took preliminary action on the resurfacing of South [illegible] after receiving complaints on the condition of the thoroughfare. A motion referring the matter to street committee with power to act was approved. The committee members, H. C. Mosier, Loyd Dye, and Harley J. McCammon, are considering having the street resurfaced with a hot bitumen compound over which fine limestone is rolled.

Because there are not sufficient funds in the Rivercliff cemetery treasury to cure for the cemetery for the remainder of the year [illegible] is considering raising the [illegible] for the cemetery from .15 to .25 mills out of the 235 mill corporation tax. If this is done the Gilead township trustees must appropriate a similar proportionate increase in their contribution to the cemetery funds.

BOWLERS TO MEET AT ALLEY THURSDAY

League To Lay Plans For Winter Season.

The first meeting of teams representing an organized bowling league for the purpose of making plans for the fall and winter season, will be held when City league officials and members meet tomorrow night at 7 o'clock at the Marion Recreation Center on South Prospect street, it was announced today by Arthur Winterseller, manager of the alleys.

Frank Farrant, representative of the American Bowling Congress who is in charge of organization of the leagues, will preside at the meeting. All members are invited to attend and captains of teams entered in the league last year are requested to be present. Friday night at 7 o'clock similar representatives of the All Star bowling league will meet at the Rrecreation Center.

The fall bowling season has tentatively been set to open the week of Sept. 13, Winterseller said today. At the present time the alleys here are closed down for remodelling and resurfacing but will be open the last of this month.

COUNCIL AT BUCYRUS GETS STREET OPTION

Landowners Offer Strip Sought for Thoroughfare by Park Promoters.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Aug. 4—The possibility of securing a street along the Sandusky river from Sandusky avenue to Lane street, which has long been the aim of promoters of a public park in that vicinity, came a step nearer Tuesday night when city councilmen heard an offer of a six month option to purchase a section of the ground from the owners.

The option, offered by Joe and Susie Dager and A. Rish, present owners, offers a tract of land 60 feet wide along the river with the provision that the low lying land be filled in with suitable foundation material and that a 30 foot street be built within four years. The proposition was referred to the city solicitor to report at the next regular meeting of council.

The budget for 1937-38 asking for appropriations of $125,000, an increase of $8,000 over last year, was presented to council for its first reading. The increase was for contemplated relief necessary since state relief was withdrawn from the city. The budget will be subject to approval by the county budget committee.

A delay in the repair of broken sewers and hydrants caused by recent flood waters and heavy rains was in prospect today after council refused to transfer $3,500 requested by Service Director R. L. Hertzer for the work and transferred $2,500 instead.

Service Director Hertzer was authorized to advertise for bids for the lease of the city reservoir farm fillable land, a tract of 70 acres for a period of three years.

A request by Frank Johnston, property owner in the south part of the city, for assistance from the city in the construction of a sidewalk on South Sandusky avenue was referred to the city solicitor.

Floyd Brown, Marion engineer, appeared before council with a request to be permitted to present his proposal for a sewage disposal system if and when council should decide to construct such a plant.

CRESTLINE MAN GETS LIFE FOR SLAYING

Otis Kelly Changes Plea to Guilty Before Judge Ahl at Bucyrus.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Aug. 4—Changing his plea of not guilty to guilty, Otis Kelly, Crestline Negro resident, was sentenced to life imprisonment in Ohio penitentiary, Monday when arraigned before Judge C. U. Ahl charged with manslaughter. Kelly was taken to Columbus today.

Upon passing sentence, Judge Ahl told Attorney Edward C. King, who was appointed as counsel for the defendant, that he would not be averse to a recommendation for parole in 12 years.

Kelly was indicted by the April grand jury. The charge arose out of the fatal shooting May 29 of Thomas McClure, also a Negro of Crestline, in an argument over a small sum of money.

Ralph Zimmerman, also indicted by the April grand jury, changed his plea of not guilty to guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated and was given a fine of $50 and costs.

Zimmerman was represented in court by Attorneys William C. Beer Jr. and Grant Mouser of Marion.

MT. GILEAD BOARD HIRES 2 TEACHERS

Cardington and Cleveland Instructors To Replace Those Who Resigned.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Aug. 4 — Two vacancies in the staff of the Mt. Gilead schools were filled by the board this week. Miss Eilene Messenger of Cardington, who taught the Blue Jay one room rural school in Gilead township last year, was employed to teach English and reading in the departmentalized elementary grades. She succeeds Miss Eleanor Ward who resigned to accept a position in Columbus.

Walter Morely of Cleveland, a 1937 graduate of Ohio State university, was employed to teach industrial arts in the high school. He succeeds Arthur Moody, now head of the cooperative industrial arts course being started by the Mt. Gilead board of education in cooperation with the Hydraulic Press Mfg. Co.

Twenty applications for the position of janitor in the schools here will be considered by the board at their next regular meeting Monday night. They will employ one janitor to succeed Tom England, resigned.

The resignation of Miss Messenger from the Gilead township system leaves the district without a teacher for either of the two one room schools to be operated next term. Miss Iris Hall, who taught at the Quakerdom school last year, recently resigned to accept a position in the Edison schools.

M'KINLEY TEAM WINS 2 IN PLAYGROUND LEAGUE

South End Boys Take Doubleheader Bill from Lincoln Park; More Games Tomorrow.

McKinley playground softball teams in the Huck Finn junior and senior leagues won all-around from the Lincoln aggregations yesterday as the interplayground loops neared the end of the first round of play. Only one more series of games, to be played tomorrow, is needed to complete the round, provided there are no tie scores.

In the senior league, McKinley, with Mathias pitching and Caldwell catching, took both ends of a double header, 10-5 and 4-3, on their home grounds from the visiting Lincoln park team. Benedict pitched and Jenner caught for Lincoln in the first game, while Jenner pitched and Hindman caught in the second tilt.

In the junior league, McKinley also took both games, 18-11 and 8-5, at Lincoln park.

Rife was the hitting star of the first senior game, getting two doubles and a single in four trips to the plate. Cressap led the Lincoln team in slugging. McKinley piled up four runs in the first inning and kept it throughout seven frames, scoring one in the third, two in the fourth and one in the sixth. Lincoln scored one in the second, and two each in the last two innings.

In the second senior game, McKinley was forced to stage a three-run rally in the fifth and last inning to win. Three hits, two walks and an error led to the four runs which brought the 4 to 3 victory.

The league standings follow: Huck Finn senior softball, Lincoln and Shovel tied for first with three wins and three losses each, and McKinley last with four wins and four losses; Huck Finn junior softball, McKinley first with six wins and two losses; Shovel second with three each, and Lincoln third with one win and five defeats; baseball, Lincoln first with two wins and no losses, McKinley second with one of each, and Shovel third with two losses and no wins.

Thursday the Shovel junior softball team will entertain the Lincoln team and the Lincoln seniors will visit the Shovel diamond. The play will complete the first round of play, McKinley having already finished its first schedule.

The first and second round champions will meet in each league in September for the city championship, according to Clarence Lenz, boys' work secretary at the Y. M. C. A. The Y. M. C. A. aided by WPA and NYA is supervising the three park playgrounds this summer.

This afternoon the Shovel baseball team was to meet the McKinley team at the south end diamond.

Special events lined up for the children at the playgrounds for Friday are: a circus day at McKinley with children and play supervisors participating, a surprise day at the Shovel, and an elaborate program at Lincoln. The Lincoln day will include semi-finals in both boys and girls croquet tournaments and roller ball games between the boys and girls in the morning; in the afternoon the children will bring their hobbies and handicraft work for a hobby display which will be followed by a talk on hobbies by Earl N. Hale, Y. M. C. A. secretary; the award of hobby prizes and tickets to the Ohio theater and finally the championship games in the croquet tournament for boys and girls.

SILK MILL TRUSTEES' DUTIES COMPLETED

Federal Court in New York Approves Final Report, Discharges Board.

One of the final chapters of the reorganization of the Susquehanna Silk Mills, owning a group of mills including one in Marion, was written in federal court records in New York City yesterday when a court order approved the final report of the board of trustees, discharged the board and their bonds. The Associated Press reported.

The trustees had been working since March of 1936 carrying out an order issued by Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard authorizing the new organization to take over the company's affairs. Previously, the company had been in receivership.

The reorganization plan involved distribution of stock in the new company to creditors, debenture holders and holders of claims of all kinds against the old company. Claims allowed by the court were paid partially in cash and partially in stock.

Among the claim holders were a number of Marion residents who were employed at the Marion mill when it was in operation and who had savings on deposit with the company. More than 50 persons were understood to have amounts ranging from a few dollars to several thousand dollars. These accounts were settled last year by the payment, of 15 per cent in cash and the balance in stock excepting accounts of $300 or less which were paid entirely in cash. The Marion settlements were among those approved by the federal judge.

The company's mill here has been idle for more than a year. It employed as many as 450 persons.

Only one of the company's mills is in operation now. It is located at Atlanta, Ga. Some dyeing work also is being done at the Sunbury, Pa. plant but the mill there is not in operation.

Final trustees' report on file in federal district court in New York disclosed the consolidated net loss of Susquehanna Silk Mills from June 22, 1934, to March 15, 1937, amounted to $121,767.37 before depreciation and $343,188.92 after depreciation. A plan of reorganization under section 77B of the federal bankruptcy act was confirmed on the latter date.

Net sales of the debtor and its subsidiaries for the period amounted to $16,464,775.38. Consolidated assets as of last March 10, when control of the company was turned over to the debtor, amounted to $20,099,690.97, of which $2,456,930.14 was current assets. Current liabilities on that date were $333,440.27. Merchandise inventories on last March 15 amounted to $1,651,076.89, against $1,551,237.65 on June 21, 1934, and $1,525,125 on July 15, 1932, when the company entered an equity receivership.

Federal Judge Goddard confirmed the report, subject to auditing and verification.

CLUB PUSHES PLANS FOR ANNUAL PICNIC

Prepare for 1,000 at Sportsmen's Outing on Guthery Farm Aug. 10.

Plans for the fourth annual jamboree and barbecue of the LaRue Sportsman's club, to be held Aug. 10 are progressing rapidly under the direction of committees headed by Max T. Weist of near LaRue, president of the organization.

The affair, to be held on the Cyrus Guthery farm, three miles southeast of Agosta, is expected to attract from the neighborhood of 1,000 persons. Last year 700 members and guests attended and those in charge are making preparations to entertain even a larger crowd this year.

Activities will begin at noon and will include bait and fly casting contests, trap shooting and a baseball game. The feature of the trapshooting will be a 100-target event with prizes for the three high guns. At 5 o'clock the Marion Steam Shovel and Defiance Pressed Steel baseball teams, both contenders for the industrial league championship in Marion, will meet in an exhibition game, President Weist announced.

An entire beef will be barbecued for the occasion under the direction of Clyde Wittbslager of LaRue who is in charge of the committee handling refreshments. The grounds of the club are being prepared by Cyril Guthery. George Oberdier, secretary of the club, is assisting the executive committee in completing arrangements.

Former Marion Boy Wins South Bend Soap Box Race

BOB MORROW IN "MERCURY"

A former Marion boy will compete with 122 other youths from all parts of the United States in the national soap box derby on Aug. 15 at Akron, according to a news report from South Bend, Ind.

He is George "Bob" Morrow, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Emmett Morrow Sr. of South Bend, formerly of Marion, and a nephew of Mrs. Henry Reid of 286 Lincoln avenue.

"Bob" will represent South Bend, driving his car, "The Mercury," which he made himself over a seven-week period.

He won the right to represent the city when he drove to victory over 50 competitors in the city's race Sunday. He received a silver trophy mounted in ebony, a medal and bicycle for winning first place and also received a sweat shirt for having the best looking vehicle in the contest.

"I hope to see a lot of my friends from Marion at the Akron meet," he told a South Bend reporter this week. He also disclosed that his ambition is to be an aeronautical engineer.

"Bob" attended the seventh and eighth grades at the Vernon Heights Junior High school and was in his freshman year when the family left Marion six years ago. He was a member of Boy Scout Troop 7. The family home was at 193 Barnhart street.

The young champion now attends Central High school in South Bend where he will be a junior next fall. His father is associated with Mercuries Motorways, Inc., in South Bend.

Marion relatives learned that "Bob" was planning to enter the race when Mr. and Mrs. Morrow stopped here a week ago for a short visit.

FAMILY REUNIONS

As in the past The Star is anxious to publish accounts of family reunions held in Marion and surrounding counties. However, because of the large number held in this area each summer extensive accounts cannot be used. Accounts of such gatherings should be written and mailed to The Star office as soon as possible after the reunion and should include the name of the family, place held, and names of officers elected.

Weather Records Show July Wasn't So Bad After All

In review, July weather wasn't as bad as it seemed to those who lived through it. For a time it looked as if rain would ruin crops in the county and city garden plots, but the rainfall for the month was more than an inch shy of the average; dragging blankets out of moth balls brought howls of "It's the coldest July ever," but figures show the temperatures were nearly three degrees above normal.

Six thunderstorms rent the skies and ran shivers upand down the spines of those souls who Nature at the first streak of lightning to cut the heavens. Considerable damage resulted in some parts of the state, but Marion city escaped with little but blown down trees and streets littered with branches.

Usually July can be set down for days of above-90 temperatures, but last month there were only seven, and the highest recording was 94. It was in July of 1930 that a 16 year record was broken by a reading of 102.

Marionites shivered night after night, but the lowest reading was 50 — compared with 44 in 1917. There were nine nights when the mercury settled in the 50's.

It was a bad month for swimmers. Mornings when the sun came out and boded well for a day in the water, thunderstorms in the afternoon ruined the sport. As one swimmer sighed "I get all set to go in and then the skies cloud up and even if it doesn't rain the threat has spoiled the fun. And even if the sun stays out the air's too darned cold if the water is warm." Grief, pure grief.

Temperatures for the month averaged 74.49 degrees, according to records of Observer E. H. Hatfenseperger. The average is 71.6 degrees.

Average July rainfall is 4.22 inches. Last month's, despite the frequent storms which deluged the city from time to time, was only 2.95 inches.

July in Marion was even with the seconds on one count, however. It didn't break the two-row record.

RECRUIT IN NAVY SENT TO SCHOOL

John F. Irvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson G. Irvin of 356 North Greenwood street, who enlisted in the United States Navy in May, has recently gained entrance to the machinist's mate school at Norfolk, Va., H. E. Trusler, navy recruiting officer at the Lima substation announced today. Mr. Irvin, enlisted at Lima and was sent to the Naval training station at Norfolk for a 12-week period, just ended.

Entrance to the machinist's mate school is gained through rigid competitive examinations in mathematics English and mechanical laws to determine an applicant's aptitude for a certain trade, Mr. Trusler said.

Mr. Trusler recently inaugurated a new system of recruiting young men from the Lima district which includes Marion and Hardin counties. Under the new order he visits the postoffice here on alternate Fridays and is scheduled to be here this Friday, provided nothing occurs to interfere.

WILLING WORKERS ARE ENTERTAINED

The Willing Workers class of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church of Richland township met at the home of Misses Martha and Helen Loyer on the Marion-Caledonia road Friday night. Miss Vesta Kramer conducted devotionals and a short business session was held with Delemar Beckel presiding.

Lunch was served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs William J. Loyer. Contests and games were held with awards going to Misses Dorine Hensel, Helen Loyer and Delemar Beckel and Harry Rota. Miss Marguerite Loyer of Marion was a guest.

Social Affairs

THE annual summer party of the Tuesday Study club was a dinner-bridge last evening at Ringer's Inn on the Prospect road. Gladioli in pastel shades centered the tables at which covers were laid for 21.

Mrs. J. K. Schwinger, program chairman, distributed the year books for the 1937-38 season, which will be devoted to a study of the drama.

A season of bridge followed dinner, the award for high score going to Mrs. C. C. Pye. The party was arranged for by the social chairman, Mrs. Albert Merkle.

First meeting of the fall will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 12, at the home of the president, Mrs. Pye, of 288 East George street.

MISS MARTHA SCHABER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schaber of west of Marion, whose marriage to Samuel Orahood of Galion will take place Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Emmanuel Baptist church, was complimented with a miscellaneous shower last evening at the home of the pastor, Rev. H. B. Twining, of 910 North Main street.

The party, at which Mrs. Twining was hostess, followed a swimming party and wiener roast at Scioto Beach. Members of the True Blue class of which Miss Schaber is a member and Mrs. Twining is teacher, were guests. Miss Schaber found her gifts in the dining room.

Mr. Orahood, who is associated with the North Electric Mfg. Co. in Galion, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Orahood of Elk avenue.

Last Friday evening Miss Schaber was given a miscellaneous shower at her parents' home, by a group of her friends. Contests in keeping with a wedding theme were conducted. The house was decorated with garden flowers and in the bride's colors of pink and blue. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Frank Schaber and Mrs. Carl Schaber.

MISS EULETA SMITH of Columbus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Smith of 267 Leader street, will be home in a day or two to complete the final arrangements for her marriage Sunday to Ralph J. Strohl of Delaware. The wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon at Epworth M. E. church, preceded by a half-hour program of nuptial music by Miss Mae Evangeline Lawrence, organist.

Miss Smith has chosen her sister, Miss Marcella Smith, to be her maid of honor and Miss Christine Merz of Columbus to be her bridesmaid. Little Miss Patsy Ann Timson of Galion, cousin of the bride, will be the flower girl and Miss Donna Ruth Davis, niece of the bridegroom, will light the candles. Clem Strohl of Waldo will serve his brother as best man and Robert Hoffman and Richard Deucher, both of Cleveland, will act as ushers.

Miss Smith, a graduate of Hardley High school and of Miami university at Oxford, has been employed in Columbus for the last three years in the department of public welfare of which Mrs. Margaret Allman is director. Mr. Strohl is associated with the Gas Fuel Co. of Delaware.

Mrs. Izona Sanderson, teacher, conducted a business session at a meeting of the Willing Workers class of the Fite Memorial Baptist church last evening with Mr. and Mrs. Glen Riddle of Fite avenue. A Bible contest was won by Mrs. Margaret Darling. A potluck lunch was served. A meeting will be held Sept. 7 with Mrs. Elizabeth Gorenflo of Herman street.

Mrs. Sterling Somerlot and Mrs. Carl Bensberger were guests when Mrs. George Parish entertained the Knock Knock Bridge club last evening at her home on Nye street. Mrs. Bensberger won guest honors for high score and club honors went to Mrs. Gail Doan and Mrs. Clyde Barnhard. Miss Helen Martin was consoled. Lunch was served by the hostess. The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Doan on Henry street.

Members of the executive board of the Marion Lecture Recital club will hold their August meeting Friday in Hotel Harding. A luncheon will be served at 11:30 o'clock. The meeting has been called by Mrs. Karl Scholl, president of the club.

Twenty members and 10 guests were entertained last night at the annual picnic of the Jessie Buckley class of the Central Christian church at Lincoln park. A basket supper was served.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Pauline Mullee of Cleveland and Mrs. Phelps and son of Evansville, Ind. The next class meeting will be held Sept. 7.

Mrs. C. C. Metz was hostess to members of the ladies aid society of the Forest Lawn Presbyterian church at her home last night on Brenner court. Nineteen members were present.

Devotionals were conducted by Mrs. W. P. Converse and Mrs. L. Thompson gave a reading. Honors in contests went to Mrs. Alice Mounts, Mrs C. E. Willoughby and Mrs. H. E. Winters. The next meeting will be held Sept. 7 at the home of Mrs. Ray Thomas on Forest street.

King's Daughters Officers Convene in Bucyrus Today

PLANS for the annual state convention which will be held in Marion this year on Oct. 5-7 are being made by the official board of the Ohio Branch, International Order of King's Daughters and Sons, in session today in Bucyrus.

As president of the Ohio Branch Mrs. French Crow of Marion is presiding over the meeting. A dinner last evening at Maplecrest, the King's Daughters' home, opened the board session.

Mrs. Crow and most of the members of the board will remain at Maplecrest through Thursday when the annual Maplecrest Chapter day will bring visitors from all sections of the state for an all day meeting and basket dinner. Marion circles probably will be represented.

Board members present at today's meeting are Miss Zona Scott, first vice president, Cleveland; Mrs. F. A. Rice of Cleveland, second vice president; Mrs. Edna Holycross of Marysville, secretary and Mrs. C. Fred Vollmer of Bucyrus, treasurer; board members Mrs. A. A. Gotchall of Toledo, Mrs. B. B. Jones of Clyde, Mrs. Neil Kellogg of Medina, Mrs. Lucy Van Kirk of Granville and Mrs. Daisy Dyar of Lowell.

Homemade Trap Rids Neighborhood of Flies

There aren't any flies on D. J. Lawler, Marion grocer—in fact there aren't many in his neighborhood—as the result of his installation of an out-door home made fly trap near the store at the corner of Oak and Silver streets.

Since the trap was set up this week, Mr. Lawler hasn't been troubled with flies, and residents of the neighborhood have come around and thanked him, explaining they've noticed a marked decline in the fly population of the entire neighborhood.

Mr. Lawler explained the construction of the trap for the benefit of Marion residents in view of the fact flies have been more troublesome this year than in several years. "A few of these simple traps at various points around Marion would soon make a difference," he said.

The trap consists of an oblong framework covered with screen. Mr. Lawler's is about two and one-half feet high and one foot square. Instead of a flat bottom it has a cone, fashioned from screening, with the point, in which there is a small opening, extending upward into the interior of the trap. Legs keep the screened-in part several inches off the ground, and bait placed underneath the cone complete the fly-catching setup.

The trap works on the theory that flies are attracted by the bait, have a meal, and fly upward after feeding. They fly against the cone, crawl upward toward the light and end their travel by walking into the trap. Mr. Lawler, and others who have watched the trap estimate that not more than one out of 100 flies that get in the trap ever find their way out through the small opening at the top of the cone.

In the first few hours it was placed in use, the trap impounded more than a quart of flies, which die quickly.

Meat makes an excellent bait, but it attracts dogs, so Mr. Lawler prefers to use a banana peel, some milk or other food less attractive to dogs. The trap, he said, isn't so successful for use inside a building because there isn't enough light. A spot in the sunshine is best, and all sides of the trap must be covered with screen to keep it light, he said. He recommends setting the trap on an overturned tub or some other support to keep it a short distance off the ground.

Mr. Lawler said he made a similar trap two years ago and used it with good results. Last year, he said, flies weren't so thick so he discarded the trap. When this year's fly problem began, several persons in the neighborhood began asking about a trap, so Mr. Lawler made one early this week. The cost of materials amounts to only a few cents, consisting of wood pieces heavy enough to form a framework plus enough screen to cover the frame. The trap is made over a pattern of a commercial trap Mr. Lawler saw in use a number of years ago.

TO BUILD NEW OFFICES

BUCYRUS, Aug. 4 — Another modern office building was promised Bucyrus today by John P. Boyd, district manager of the Ohio Power Co., who announced the purchase of the property at West Rensselaer and Poplar streets now occupied by the Henderson & Lutz funeral home. The present building will be razed and a modern office structure, which will include a complete demonstration room, erected. Complete plans for the new structure have not been released.

HOW OFTEN CAN YOU KISS AND MAKE UP?
FEW husbands can understand why a wife should turn from a pleasant companion into a shrew for one whole week in every month.
You can say "I'm sorry" and kiss and make up easier before marriage than after. If you're wise and if you want to hold your husband, you won't be a three-quarter wife.
For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood 2. Preparing for motherhood 3. Approaching "middle age."

FLAME TRAIL

BY MARIE DE NERVAND

Copyright, 1937, Marie de Nervand

SYNOPSIS: Kay Crandon of the Lazy Nine impulsively hires Ted Gaynor, a jobless puncher. He helps her fight Josh Hastings, a "friendly" neighbor who wants to get her ranch and marry Kay. Ted pummels Scrap Johnson, a cowhand who molested Kay. They shoot it out, wounding each other. Hastings sneaks up and kills Scrap with Ted's gun. A girl named Marion finds Ted and her nursing saves his life. Arrested, he is tried for Scrap's murder, but Kay stops the trial by technical protest. Ted is about to be taken back to Montana for a second trial, when he learns Hastings has kidnaped Kay.

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE

Dash For Freedom

A TED rode out of Clear Water with Zeke Farley and his posse of four men grouped before and behind him, his eyes scanned the outskirts of the town.

Its week's enforced rest had done him a world of good, in spite of the mental strain he had been under, and he felt like a different man from the weak and nearly fainting person who had come into town by this same route such a relatively short time before.

"What are those old buildings down there?" He turned to Joe, who was just behind him, and nodded toward the north end of town with an air of idle curiosity.

"Just a bunch of old shacks," Joe answered. "First off, it looked like the town was going to spread that way. Then the railroad came a mile farther south than they'd reckoned, and left that end flat. Cleared Ram Simpkins and a couple of others out complete, and their places have been deserted ever since."

"They're not much to look at," Ted observed carelessly, cleverly disguising the excitement that coursed through him at the thought of Kay being concealed somewhere in one of those ruined shacks. The time for a break was not yet, and Heaven only knew when it would be. But at least he know where to head to look for Kay.

One thing would be in his favor: If he once made a getaway, the last place they'd expect him to make for would be Clear Water Basin! And while they were scouting for him in the mountains, he'd at least have a chance to get back and free Kay. After that, it didn't matter what happened, he thought recklessly, as they left the confines of the town, and headed up the trail on the west side of the central divide.

A Pretext For Lagging

For two hours they had been climbing and the long purple shadows thrown by the setting sun filled the deep canyon that yawned at their left, as they rounded the high cliffs on their right.

So far there had not been the slightest chance for a break, but Ted was pinning his hopes on the more open regions above, just before they struck the big timber. For Kay's sake, as well as his own, he could not afford to let his impatience lead him to take too reckless chances.

To his relief, Zeke Farley had decreed that they should push on after dark, until they reached the more dangerous passes.

Ted's attitude of alternate sullen irritation and apathy had persuaded Zeke Farley, as Ted intended it should, that he was incapable of any desperate or daring action, and this feeling had communicated itself to the other members of the posse. So when Ted complained of his cinch being too loose, causing his saddle to slip, there was no objection raised to his dismounting to fix it.

By this time, they had left the narrow defile through which they had been pushing their way upward, and had come out on rock ledges that were bordered by steep slopes scantily wooded with scrub spruce and pine. A stream of water, cutting its way down from the upper levels, had carved out for itself a canyon 50 feet or so in depth, but fairly narrow at the top. Wooded slopes rose again on the far side of the canyon.

The thin, exhilarating air of the high country sent a thrill of elation through Ted. Anticipation of daring action at last set his blood tingling through his veins and, as he bent to his cinch, a heady recklessness took possession of him.

One by one, the men passed him, as he fumbled clumsily with the leather. At a bend in the trail, 50 feet or so from him, Zeke Farley, who was in the lead, called impatiently, "Get a move on," and rounded the curve, calling to Joe to wait for Ted.

At this instant, Ted's clumsy faltering changed to dynamic action. Springing into the saddle, he seized his mount's mane and twisted it desperately, as he raked him with his heels.

A Daring Leap

Snorting and terrified, the horse wheeled and plunged down the trail with frantic speed. Ted gave a sudden lunge and shout, and guided him to the canyon's edge. With a squeal of panic the animal took the jump as the only alternative to the death drop that yawned before him.

The horse barely caught the other side, miraculously gained balance, and plunged up the timbered side as shots and curses rang out from across the canyon.

Leaning low over his head, Ted urged him on, ducking as the random bullets whistled past, and praying to the gods of luck, into whose hands he had so recklessly played. Behind him resounded the scream of a horse in terror, and a dull crash. Then came a blasphemous chorus of shouts, and the shots ceased.

Ted pushed on with a shudder of horror. One of the men must have tried to follow him, and missed by the narrow margin he had won by.

Realizing that at last he had the break he had hoped for, Ted crashed up the slope. He must give the impression that he was making for the high timber, where there were plenty of places to hide.

It would take Zeke Farley and his posse some time to round the canyon that he had leapt across. And he could easily count on their putting up an all-night search for him, and probably continuing it by daylight. They would never dream that he had headed back to town where anyone who saw him would recognize him, and the game would be up.

When Ted arrived at a point where both shouts and shots behind him had died away, and pines, blurring their outlines and bringing out their sweet sharp fragrance, he turned shortly at a right angle and started down.

Just how he blazed that unknown trail, against the odds of darkness, Ted never knew. Not his own safety or anything but the desperate urge to reach Kay could ever have pushed him so to attempt and accomplish the impossible.

With reckless disregard of consequences if he was seen, he finally, after hours of agony, headed down the bench and toward the straggling lights of Clear Water.

He was thankful that there was no betraying moon to reckon with, as he galloped toward the north end of the town, then pulled down to a walk.

Ted breaks into the ruined smithy where Kay is imprisoned, tomorrow.

CLEVER—THESE CHINESE

There is a widespread opinion among Europeans that our American divorce laws are the very last word in sketchiness and informality.

But compared with the divorce laws of China where a divorce may be secured just by mutual consent, our Reno removals and our Mexican mail-order machinations seem as ceremonious and ostentatious as a society church wedding. The Chinese husband and wife merely have to sign a document setting forth the nature of their difference, and the document must be signed by two witnesses.

It's as simple as that! No detectives to hire, no lawyers to pay, no lies to tell, and no judges to be wheedled!

Of course, out in Arizona the Hopi Indians have found an easy-out for marital incompatibility. The wife simply throws her spouse's saddle out of the "steppee" and she's back in circulation again. But tossing a saddle out of the house requires a physical effort. Consequently, thousands of dissatisfied Hopi housewives spend most of their waking hours just sitting and glaring at their husband's saddles—unable to get up and do anything about it.

However, like all good things there's a "catch" to this Chinese divorce law when viewed from Occidental standards. Both husband and wife must be mutually willing to share the blame for failure, and to forego any request for alimony or other compensation. This clause presents both a problem and a sacrifice. Refusal of a husband to take the Pekingese for a walk has been disguised, time and time again, in our divorce records as "mental cruelty;" but it would be pretty hard to make him agree that he was "mutually to blame." Furthermore, the "no alimony" clause would stop the most restless of our women from cutting the ties that bind.

But just consider how much brain-fag and allowance-money the Chinese system would save for the woman who goes in for one matrimonial encore after another! If she could just push a paper and pen into her husband's hand and say, "Sign here"—and call it a divorce! Or, how much easier and less expensive it would be for the man if he could sign on the dotted line—instead of having to arrange for detectives to follow him while he went out with a blond; and then go to court and hear his wife's lawyer call him several kinds of a brute.

Besides, it might make our married couples more careful and courteous. Perhaps men wouldn't bury themselves in a newspaper and go into the silence immediately after dining at home; and it might mean the undoing of that funereal delight known as the delicatessen dinner that has been listed as "incompatibility of temperament" in some of our hotly contested divorce cases. Such "slips" would simply be courting trouble — and divorce.

The fact that there are very few divorces in China, is intercating. It's probably due to the fact that anything so simple and easy to get isn't worth bothering about.

SHAKESPEARE RADIO PROGRAMS COSTLY

Shakespeare is not dead, at least not in radio which this summer is spending more than $125,000 in presenting his plays. The figure is an estimate and is for talent only. NBC spent $24,000 for its six broadcasts, John Barrymore receiving a reported $2,500 per play and the rest of the cast $1,500. CBS is laying out $8,500 per broadcast of an eight-play series.

Tonight's programs: Postmaster General Farley from Akron at 9 p. m. over WJZ-NBC on "Business and Politics"; Gang Busters at 9 p. m. over WABC-CBS; Coast Guard 147th anniversary at 7:30 over WJZ-NBC.

Tomorrow: America's cup races at various times throughout the day; Salzburg music festival from Austria at 11:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. over WEAF-NBC.

The Chinese city of Chinkiang, at the junction of the Yangtze river and Grand Canal, about 40 miles below Nanking, will be developed as an inland water port and industrial center.

Lillian Administers to Madge After Experience.

THE INTERVAL of time between my leaving the powder room and entering it again under Lillian's escort had seemed like an eternity with its experiences of excitement, shock, terror and—I triumphantly added—achievement. But, as I sent searching eyes around the exquisitely appointed blue and silver room, I realized that my adventure on the terrace was of very few minutes' duration.

The attendant was still engrossed in the care of the drunken woman, and paid no slightest attention to Lillian and me as we passed noiselessly through the room and the door which led back into the restaurant. A casual glance into a big mirror told me that though my head was throbbing painfully and my body was conscious of its bruises, my outward appearance, although not acceptable to me, would pass muster to casual eyes.

We found Harry Underwood on his feet, his keen eyes searching the room even as he courteously omitted a welcome to Martin and Carolyn, coming back to the table, escorted by Bill and Hank. All four of the young people were plainly excited by the hurried exit of the gangsters, whom I guessed, they had not recognized as such. I noticed, however, that the girls were extremely nervous, and that both Bill and Hank had grim little lines about their mouths, brought there, I surmised, by their helplessness to resent the conduct of the young gunmen. That Harry Underwood had warned them to keep quiet, no matter what happened, I was sure, and received confirmation of my belief in his first words, uttered before he saw Lillian and me.

Compliments Boys.

"Good kids!" he said approvingly. "That was a hard spot to put you boys in, asking you to take whatever happened quietly, but you came through. As it turns out, you probably saved a life or two. Sit down, girls! You look as though you needed chairs. Ah, Lady Fair, back from the wars bearing your shield. But—what's the matter, Lil?"

For I had slumped into my seat, battling a wave of headache and nausea that threatened to engulf me.

"Lookout slugged her," Lillian sent the explanation from the corner of her mouth while she opened her bag with lightning-like speed, took from it a little bottle of smelling salts which she passed over to Marion, and a small bottle from which she extracted a pellet.

"Hold the salts under her nose," she instructed Marion as she crushed the pellet into a teaspoon of water.

Gives Her Medicine.

"Here take this," she said when I was through gasping under the powerful jolt given my nostrils by the smelling salts. I swallowed it obediently, and then she moved her chair close to mine, and put my head against her shoulder.

"Rest here for a little," she said, "unless you'd rather go into the powder room and lie down."

"No, no," I protested. "I'll be all right here in a few minutes."

"I think you will at that," she said. "Just close your eyes. The waiter will probably think you're spiffed, but there's nobody else can see you—the tables nearest ours aren't occupied, and you should worry. I don't fancy you'll ever see this place again."

"That's the truest thing you've ever said, Mums," her young daughter declared emphatically. "Are we fed up, and how! Can't we get out of here right away before anything else happens? I wouldn't go out on that dance floor again for a farm."

Must Wait a While.

"Not till Auntie Madge feels better," Lillian said with reproof in her voice and cut short her daughter's contrite apology with an injunction to quiet.

"Have all the rest of your dinner brought to," she directed, "and eat, don't talk, till Auntie Madge reacts to this stuff I've given her. After that, we can go home, I think."

She turned to her husband.

"They had two cars, separated, went in both directions. We'll have to wait a little while, don't you think?"

"A half hour at least," her big husband replied, and then for a blessed interval, to me, there was quiet.

But I knew that the four young-sters were agog with curiosity, and as soon as the potent drug Lillian had given me began to take effect, I opened my eyes, knowing that she would not approve my effort, and smiled at the girls.

"Tell them all about it now," I said. "I'm all right."

IT'S ODD But It's Science

BY HOWARD BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK—It's a good thing the human nose isn't so sensitive. Otherwise man could smell the fertilizer coming out of the soil.

Proof that it does come out, in the form of ammonia gas, is reported by V. Subrahmanyan of the Indian Institute of science, Bangalore.

He puts common filter paper moistened with acid in a glass jar some soil along with the paper and tests the paper for ammonia coming from the dirt. He finds that in some cases, particularly in hot, moist weather, all the nitrogen that goes with fertilizer is lost from the soil in 10 days. It comes off in the form of ammonia.

In Ohio History

(From the J. H. Galbraith collection of Ohio histories written for The Associated Press.)

OHIO IN 1800

The first settlement made in Plymouth county was by David Hudson, in 1799. With several other men he put out in a rowboat on Lake Ontario. Although it was in May, the lake was full of blocks of ice; but they made the entrance to the Niagara river and had their boat drawn around the falls.

Above the falls they encountered so much floating ice that for a number of miles they hired men to walk on the shore and draw the boat with ropes in order to make sure that they would not be swept back into the rapids. So slowly did the party proceed that it was June 8 before the men reached Cleveland. They were more than a month covering not more than 500 miles.

NEW HONEY KRUSHED WHEAT BREAD TASTES JUST LIKE NUT BREAD

Yes It Is Chock Full of Invigorating Crushed Wheat Which Relieves Constipation by Supplying Necessary Roughage. New Secret Process Uses Honey and Other Ingredients Which Eliminate Laxatives.

One of the secrets used in baking the new Honey Krushed Wheat Bread, is the use of pure honey. This sweet flavor of blooms assists in relieving Constipation and at the same time gives Honey Krushed Wheat Bread a wonderful nutty taste.

If You Are Constipated, Make This Ten-Day Test.

Are you troubled with constipation, feel sluggish, have headaches and lack your old time pep? Then change over to Honey Krushed Wheat Bread with every meal for just ten days. But be sure to get the genuine Honey Krushed (Note the spelling K-r-u-s-h-e-d) which has scores of imitators. No other baker in this territory possesses the original formula developed for our use.

Hundreds of people report quick relief in a few days after changing over to Honey Krushed Wheat Bread. It is especially recommended for children as the whole wheat will not "pack up" in the intestines as is sometimes the case with bran.

You can now get Honey Krushed Wheat Bread at all leading food stores, all ready sliced and wrapped in moisture proof cellophane. Easy to identify because through an exclusive process, the outer crust is covered with an extra supply of nourishing crushed whole wheat kernels.

New Taste Thrill!

Try a loaf today. It is made under the original, scientific formula which has the written endorsement of thousands of dietitians, nurses and food authorities.

Insist on the genuine Honey Krushed Wheat Bread. Eat it regularly for the next ten days. See how much better you will feel.

From the Back Seat.

This isn't the kind of thing public men care to discuss, but in view of the revived new deal push for placing control of business in government's hands there is a delicate political element to consider.

If the nationalistic—or totalitarian—state which new dealers are dreaming about were to be attained, responsibility for economic upsets like the one in 1929 which undermined faith in business men would fall directly on politicians in the future.

They would have to explain why they didn't do things better, and that wouldn't be easy. Of course, as they speculate about the future they don't bother with such disagreeable thoughts. Under the new dispensation there are to be no more depressions, if you really have faith.

That doesn't alter the general conviction that there will be booms and depressions, no matter who happens to be sitting behind the wheel. It wouldn't be surprising, therefore, to learn that in the minds of some politicians the prospect of criticism from the back seat with themselves, instead of private citizens, as the target is a good and sufficient reason for being stubborn about the new deal's program. They've had too much fun and too many advantages doing the back seat driving themselves to want to put themselves and the government on the spot.

Old Faithful.

So the courthouse clock, having advanced well into middle age, is going astray occasionally. News articles tell us that the old fellow, a few years past the half century mark, is doing some fancy didoes late in the night now and then, with hands stopping, starting up again, and what not, the cause of which is a bit mystifying.

Beyond doubt it's nothing serious, probably only a case of late sowing of wild oats, an unfortunate failing with some old timers.

Even so, if Marion's "Big Ben" is inclined to indulge in occasional capers, who is there to speak a word of censure? It has been a long grind, these 50 years and more of keeping Marion on time and setting an example of faithful reliability that few if any of the citizenry have equalled.

The old boy's life has not been one of unbroken monotony, however. The big bell has summoned soldiers to two wars, sounded riot calls to the militia on several occasions, tolled the news that the famous have died, and heralded glad tidings, such as on the day of the Armistice.

In these 50 years innumerable husbands have been warned by the one or two o'clock bell that to linger longer at a stag party or poker game would mean war at home, and many the love-smitten youth who has likewise been rudely notified that night is for sleep as well as for wooing.

And while the resonant old bell can be depended upon to tell us when to go to bed, it is anything but a cure for insomnia. Probably few are the Marion residents in this half century who have not counted the tolling of the hours through restless nights, hoping against hope to get a stranglehold on Morpheus at least before the stroke of five.

Yes indeed, this half-century old clock has been closely identified with the lives of Marion's entire changing population of several generations and has done some valuable and important work. And despite the reported pranks of middle-age, there is every reason to believe the aging timepiece will get straightened out satisfactorily, settle down to staid and regular habits, and be filling the role of Old Faithful long after the present generation is no longer in need of clocks.

Working Past 65.

Even its friends concede that the social security act will be amended in many particulars and one of the first provisions likely to be changed is that fixing 65 as the age when benefits cease to accrue. The bill does not require retirement at that age but specifies that no contributions shall be collected beyond that point and no increase made in benefits payable.

The worker, now well along in years can not build up enough income by the time he reaches 65 to support himself. In many cases the amount would not equal the old age pensions provided by most states.

The law will be changed to permit the employe to continue on the job as long as his physical condition permits and to continue to make payments which will increase the benefits to be received when he retires.

It was the law's theory that its present form would induce aged workers to drop out and make room for younger men. Second thought indicates that it would merely make employers more willing to keep the old men because they would not be required to contribute for them and thus would defeat the purpose of this provision.

No Good Guesses Made

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1937, by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—Capitol Hill is usually pretty good at guessing a President's motives, but nobody has yet furnished an authoritative reason why Mr. Roosevelt asked for an advisory opinion from his attorney general as to whether a recess appointment of a supreme court justice could be made after the senate adjourned even though the vacancy occurred while the senate was in session.

Three separate and distinct explanations are advanced. They are:

First, that Mr. Roosevelt expects the retirement of another supreme court justice to develop after congress adjourns and that he would prefer to fill two vacancies at one time, thus affording an opportunity to name a radical and a liberal conservative.

Second, that Mr. Roosevelt has in mind the nomination of someone whose name he knows will be palatable to the senate and will raise a controversy, the repercussions of which may die down by the time the senate reconvenes next January when the appointee will already have donned the robes of office.

Third, that Mr. Roosevelt needs votes in congress between now and adjournment for crucial measures and that, if he withholds an appointment, he will not antagonize any of the senators or representatives who are known to have their favorite candidates for the vacancy on the court which now exists.

The last reason presupposes that Mr. Roosevelt does not think congress will adjourn without a vote or two on some question vital to his administration, and that he would prefer to keep active in his behalf those senators who are urging partisan appointments.

Of all the reasons, the first one seems to be the most logical. It seems to fit in with what was generally understood to be the situation before Senator Robinson died. The honorary friends of the Arkansas senator say the latter never did get a definite statement in so many words from Mr. Roosevelt of his intention to appoint him to the bench. Instead it is said Mr. Roosevelt hinted at the prospective appointment of Mr. Robinson in an indirect way, declaring that it was necessary to pass the Logan-Hatch substitute in order that two vacancies might be immediately developed. It will be recalled that the substitute plan called for only one appointment a year of addition justices beyond the nine of the present court. Thus, one additional vacancy created by law, plus the one caused by the retirement of Justice Van Devanter, would have given the President two appointments to make.

Naturally, if Mr. Robinson thought that he was to get an appointment, but only after the Logan-Hatch proposal was passed, it might, humanly enough, have spurred him on to further efforts or at least to expediting action on the substitute so that the President would be able to meet the then existing situation as circumstances required.

Only Mr. Roosevelt himself could verify a matter of this kind. If to be sure, he has had it in mind for some time to balance a radical with a liberal conservative, then he might now be taking seriously the prediction made to the house of representatives in a stirring address by Chairman Sumners of the house judiciary committee to the effect that there would be further vacancies in the court occurring in the regular way once congress got rid of the court bill.

It is true the senate has recommitted the court packing bill, but some administration enthusiasts have announced their intention of reviving the issue in some form by tacking on an amendment requiring a two-thirds vote of the court to invalidate an act of congress. It is believed that, when retirements come, the present members of the supreme court will wish to make their announcement at a time which will not in any way be construed as an effort to delay further court legislation or to affect the legislative situation one way or the other.

Many persons on Capitol Hill are guessing that, if Mr. Roosevelt did not have some such plan of waiting for an additional vacancy before filling the existing vacancy, he would have acted long ago. All three prominent persons mentioned for the present vacancy, namely Stanley Reed, solicitor general; Samuel Bratton, circuit court of appeals judge and former senator from New Mexico, and Judge Hutchinson, also of the circuit court of appeals in Texas, could be confirmed by the senate without prolonged controversy.

Would Confound Critics

Indeed, it is pointed out that President Roosevelt has a chance to confound his critics by naming men of the foregoing type. For it can then be asked on his behalf why there was so much furore about "court packing" when, on the first opportunity to fill a vacancy, a justice is appointed who is promptly accepted by conservatives, liberals and radicals alike in the United States senate.

Those who think Mr. Roosevelt has some other idea in mind—namely, to wait for a second vacancy—insist that the President would by now have filled the post if he really intended to pick any of the three mentioned who could be so quickly confirmed. The mere asking for an opinion about a recess appointment when the President knows there is at least two weeks more of the present session in which to get confirmation of any of the three men mentioned above shows he has some other plan in the back of his mind. Hence the belief most plausible is that Mr. Roosevelt wants to make two appointments simultaneously, and this probably will not be possible till after congress adjourns when some one of the supreme court justices sends in his retirement letter at a time sufficiently detached from the present session as not to make it seem to have been induced by the circumstances surrounding the historic supreme court battle of 1937.

Pressure of public opinion, however, may cancel the President to send in one nomination now and make a recess appointment when the next vacancy is expected to occur, that is some time before October. The question raised by Senator Borah as to whether Justice Van Devanter resigned or just "retired" is a technical one, but it relates primarily to the matter of compensation and not service on the highest bench. The retirement law was drawn especially to prevent reduction of compensation after retirement. Insofar as the supreme court itself is concerned, there is a vacancy, due to Justice Van Devanter's withdrawal, but whether Justice Van Devanter's salary can be cut in a future economy wave, as happened to the late Justice Holmes after he retired, is something for treasury attorneys and Justice Van Devanter to worry about some day, and, of course, the contingency may never arise.

Old Sea Data To Guide Fliers

By RICHNELL EUBANKS
United Press Correspondent.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4.—Use of weather observations made by ship captains during the last half century to determine the safest airlines for regular trans-oceanic flights was foreseen today by W. F. McDonald, chief the U. S. weather bureau here.

Composite maps showing the weather tendencies at any point in the seven seas would be used by pilots to chart their routes, McDonald said.

"These maps, or pictures, would inform the pilot what sort of weather he most likely would encounter during a flight across the waters," he explained. "The value of such information would be enhanced by the fact that it would be based on data furnished by mariners during the past 50 years. If any one is interested in weather, the sailor certainly is."

Already such a system is being worked out by the New Orleans meteorologist. From 6,000,000 separate observations turned into the weather bureau at Washington, he has worked out charts, maps, and other data to show the general weather tendencies all over the world.

Detailed Survey Made.

Through a WPA appropriation, McDonald was furnished a corps of clerks who have spent the last 15 months sorting and filing these millions of reports under their respective subjects. With trained meteorologists he now is able to interpret the various reports in terms of wind direction and velocity, temperature, rainfall and even visibility.

These interpretations have taken concrete form in maps which show the averages of different weather phases at any given part of the seas in any month or season.

McDonald cautioned, however, that the value of the reports and maps lay not so much in their use for a specific flight as for establishment of permanent routes or series of routes.

"For instance, companies already are preparing for regular trans-Atlantic service to Europe," he said. "Through such a set of maps as we have, these companies who are planning the oceanic flights for a permanent thing can check over past histories of weather conditions and find the general averages on the routes they are considering. Then they will know when and where to shift the routes according to seasonal changes."

Records Cover 50 Years.

McDonald first conceived the project of exploring the marine data several years ago when he was chief of the marine division in the weather bureau at Washington. Carefully stacked away on shelves were records that for half a century had been sent to Washington—data relating to storms, calms, rains, visibility and wind.

"These reports were used only to consult when data was wanted relating to storms," he said. "What I wanted to know was not only that but what had happened on the days when there were no storms."

With the advent of the CWA, McDonald petitioned and was granted a corps of clerks to sort out the various observations. But with the demise of that New Deal agency, the project ended almost before it started. Shortly after he was transferred to New Orleans.

Correspondence with WPA headquarters at Washington brought results and the bales of the old weather observations were shipped to New Orleans.

"For the first time in history we now have a composite picture of ocean weather, something the world has needed for a long time," he said. "Already our findings are revolutionary and where the whole thing will lead is to hard to say."

Drouth Information Sought.

As a by-product of his studies, McDonald is attempting to prove or disprove a theory he has conceived concerning the occurrence of drouth in the Plains States.

"We realize that certain conditions are necessary to precipitate rainfall, such as winds, temperature, rain-bearing clouds, and so on," he explained.

McDonald thought maybe something might have occurred over the oceans to disrupt or dislocate these conditions.

"Perhaps the trade winds blowing in from the sea were held up in some way," he said.

With his corps of meteorologists, McDonald struck an average of the dry years in a selected group of states, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Arkansas, based on the dry years of 1911, 1916, 1925, 1926 and 1932. He compared these averages with the weather history of the oceans in the same months of the drouths.

Key Not Discovered.

"I thought perhaps somewhere I might run across the key which would solve the mystery," he said, "such as a dislocation of the rain-bearing winds, which naturally would result in a lack of precipitation."

So far his studies have "resulted more in disappointment."

"However, I'm keeping at it because after all science is a matter of trial and error," he asserted. "And after all there is still a large portion of the earth about which we have no weather data. For instance, the meteorological station recently established at the North Pole by the Russians may furnish us information which together with our findings from studies of ocean weather conditions will result in solving the mystery. Who knows?"

Robert Lucas was closely identified with the history of several states. He was born in Virginia, but in that portion of it which now forms West Virginia. Moving to Ohio, he settled at Portsmouth and later moved to Piketon.

Lucas served in both the house of representatives and the senate of Ohio. He was governor of Ohio during the so-called "Toledo war" and led troops to enforce Ohio's claim. He was a strong champion of Jacksonian Democracy and President Van Buren appointed him to be the first territorial governor of Iowa. In that capacity he had much to do with securing the admission of Iowa into the Union as a state on Aug. 4, 1846.

Tariff Walls for The States

BY DOROTHY THOMPSON

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 — It is entirely probable that the wages and hours bill will have passed the house before this column appears, but nevertheless, it may still be of interest to point out exactly what we shall have done in passing it. We shall have created a mechanism for imposing a tariff between states in this country. By its very nature, that tariff will operate to protect those areas of the country which are richest, have the greater advantages in climate, railroad rates, and trained populations of workers. The labor standards board is empowered to fix wages and hours in all industries up to a certain level and ban from interstate commerce goods whose production standards do not conform. We shall have taken no careful steps to see that this commission, given such extraordinary powers, shall be protected from political pressure and from the kind of lobbying which has been the curse of our foreign tariff policy.

As Mr. Lippmann pointed out yesterday, it is highly significant that Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican from Massachusetts, voted for the proposal. He saw that the idea behind it is precisely Mr. Hoover's idea for the regulation of our foreign tariff—the equalization of costs of production. That was not Mr. Hull's idea, and never this column's.

But if it was a bad idea for the regulation of foreign trade, it is an idea full of dynamite when applied to domestic trade between the states. Mr. Lodge comes from a state where textile, shoe, and other industries have moved to the south and he wants protection for those industries. I can understand Mr. Lodge. But I cannot understand the southern senators who voted for this bill.

One of the major curses of this country is the centralization of industry. Twenty-six per cent of our total manufacturers are concentrated in six counties, which enjoy already the advantages of establishment, of favorable freight rates, and of a trained working class population. For generations the south has been treated as a colonial agricultural area by these northern and eastern manufacturing centers. This area has been the victim of foreign tariffs for the past sixty years. It is now faced with the situation that its greatest agricultural product, cotton, is undergoing sharp contractions as a result partly of our tariff policy in the past, partly because of the foreign cotton growing, and the competition of synthetics. If now it attempts to turn to industry, it may find that the only natural advantages it has—a lower cost of living and therefore a lower wage standard, which does not necessarily mean a lower standard of living—can be arbitrarily eliminated by a tariff against its goods, inside America.

The south has the disadvantages of quality of population. It is the most illiterate part of the United States; its climate makes the average worker less productive than the worker in more temperate or colder zones. Its industrial training is backward and it is relatively remote from the great consuming centers of the United States.

It is going to take years to rehabilitate the south, and it certainly cannot be done by fiat. True, the labor standards board is hedged about by all kinds of qualifications. It is instructed to take account of varying standards, to protect production and employment and so forth. But the labor standards board is composed of human beings; we have no well-established tradition of disinterested civil service; everything is in politics. Suppose a Republican administration comes in again one of these days, dominated by the interests of the north and the east. They have in the past forced the agricultural south to buy in a market protected against cheap foreign goods. They could now force down any competition in the domestic market.

What is going to happen to manufacturers who have made contracts for future deliveries at a fixed price, if the labor standards board suddenly decrees changes in wages and hours which make that future delivery at that price impossible? Any industry can be ruined by it.

And if the principle of domestic tariffs is established, as I think it is under this bill, what is to prevent individual states from retaliating by putting up tariffs of their own? To be sure, that is forbidden under the Constitution, but there are many ways in which it can be done in effect. As a matter of fact it is done in effect already by some states—some dairy states, for instance, have taxes on oleomargarine. If Mississippi can not keep wage and hour conditions which enable her to export to other states, she may put an excise tax in products coming into the state, in order to protect the home market, thereby attempting to insure employment to their own workers by protecting that market.

Of course, the whole thing boils down to the point this column has repeatedly made. You can not legislate prosperity. The only way to increase the national wealth and thereby the national wages is to produce more and to keep open the channels by which it may reach internal and external markets.

He Didn't Like New York

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 4—Jay N. Darling, known to the world of cartooning as "Ding," is the only member of his craft to make good in New York, find it distasteful and hike back to the hills. He began his career on the Des Moines Tribune to which he returned a number of years ago.

Ding, like Webster and Tad suffered an affliction in his right arm that forced him to learn to draw with his left. There was a time when he drew an hilarious comic strip which was the talk of the syndication field. He has a highly developed sense of broad humor.

But he had a colossal aversion to the "pow" school of limning. He is the son of a preacher and a bit of preaching appealed to him—the sort of preaching that a front page cartoon can do. He is one of the cartoonists to express independence of thought.

He will attend editorial conferences and listen to suggestions but refuses to delineate any idea that does not accord with his own views, political or otherwise. Big cities depress him and he thinks Des Moines the ideal sized place in which to live.

Nostalgia I never visit crowded streets such as Delancey with sidewalks over run with children that I do not think how much these tots must be missing. No tall sycamores grow there, no coyotes howl at night, no red squirrels scamper through fallen leaves, no woodpeckers tap out their afternoon music. A copy reader with whom I once worked on Park Row told me sadly that being city born he had missed the thrills of boyhood he had read so much about in small towns. His most vivid childhood memory was of being asked by old women to chase to the corner for a bucket of beer.

So often men who occupy big desks in the dizziest spires are found great hands for fishing and the outdoors. At a casual glance they seem to express Harvard, rowing on the St. James, a post graduate at Oxford and the like yet in reminiscent moods you find they know intimately the woods and streams—the big mouthed cat fish; the mallards that visit in the autumn, all the barnyard animals and fowls, how a horse's fetlock is constructed, how a cow's tail works, and such.

Marshall Neilan now and then goes on an eating binge. All of a sudden he acquires a yen for M. Frederick's version of the pressed duck at Tour d'Argent or for a chine of beef at Simpson's on the Strand and off he goes. On a recent excursion he found the finest oysters at a little place called Constantine's in Mobile. And the best red snapper at the Columbia cafe in Tampa. The fellow that runs it made the blend and roasted all the coffee for Alfonso before Spain booted him. Neilan found grand cooking, too, in St. Petersburg, Fla., especially mullets. They take the stalk of a palm, split it down the center forming a fork, then stick these forks in a circle around an old fashioned bonfire and let the mullets roast, after which they are dipped in drawn butter—oo, la, la.

"Mite Fund" for Diplomats

Intended To Help Throw "Good Will" Parties.

BY PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 — The state department has received its "representation fund" for 1937 and again for 1938 after being long years without it, but even so the sum is so small it is almost futile in present troublesome times when such a fund is badly needed.

The "representation fund" is money for use by diplomats in throwing parties for other diplomats and people who count. By that means they create good will and get needed information.

The fund has had an unusual history. About 12 years ago, after much pleading and representation, the state department received $50,000 to help its ministers and ambassadors foot the heavy bill for entertainment forced upon them. It wasn't nearly enough, but it was a starter.

Along came the depression era a desire to lop off odds and ends of appropriations that seemed unnecessary. The entertainment fund might have survived but for the discovery that some of the diplomats sent to countries where liquor was permitted — that included most — served liquor to their guests. That was too much. The fund was abolished and any money American envoys had from then on they took from their salaries or from their own pockets.

The year 1937 brought a return of the appearance of prosperity and the state department, world of wonders, received $125,000 for entertainment. It was repeated in the 1938 appropriation bill.

Envoys Underpaid

Traditionally, American diplomats are underpaid. The ambassador to England, along with others of the ambassadorial rank, gets $17,500. His residence is furnished by the government, or rather on behalf of the government. Actually J. P. Morgan presented the government with a home for the ambassador to London several years ago. There are posts where the ambassadors and ministers do not get residences. They have to pay for them out of salary.

Ministers, next in rank to ambassadors, get $10,000 a year.

But frequently the cost of holding such jobs exceeds the pay. That is why ambassadors to the big countries like England and France are men of private means able and willing to spend from their own pockets to keep up their end.

Other countries for the most part don't put such a burden on their envoys. The British ambassador to the United States, Sir Ronald Lindsay, reputedly gets $75,000 a year salary and allowances. He lives in a very elaborate embassy out at the end of swank Massachusetts avenue.

Other Salaries

Ambassador Saito from Japan gets $40,000 salary and allowances and a residence.

Both these diplomats can, and do, entertain often and well. But American ambassadors abroad have only their salaries and a split from $125,000 to "do the necessary."

The equipment for one battery of field artillery costs $250,000, two times the whole amount the state department gets for entertainment. But then, it has always cost more for war than for peace.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Thursday, Aug. 4, 1927.

An armed man held up John J. Minoughan of Pearl street on the street near his home and robbed him of $24 in cash and $20 in checks.

Only three contests were left for the city primary Aug. 9. They were for Republican councilman-at-large and fourth ward councilman on both tickets.

Mrs. Glen L. Swetland and Miss Miss Laura Mae Collins, of Oak avenue left for a visit with friends in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. George N. Hand of East Washington avenue went to Tiffin to join a party of friends on a fishing trip to Canada.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Dennis of Scioto street.

A twilight golf party was held at the Country club with Mr. and Mrs. Lowell H. Guthery as hosts of the committee. Mrs. Karl Hyde gave a bridge and shower at her home on Park street complimenting Miss Elizabeth Zelg, an August bride.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, Aug. 4, 1917.

The situation in Russia became more critical following resignation of Premier-War Minister Kerensky. Petrograd dispatches indicated that Germany had timed her new peace movement to coincide with the chaos in Russia. Fierce fighting continued in west Europe with heavy guns being moved forward to the allies' new position despite continuous heavy rains.

Rev. C. E. Buerkle, former pastor of the German M. E. church in Marion, was seriously injured in an automobile accident near Port Clinton.

Dr. A. Rau was named a member of the district draft board.

Mrs. Charles H. Elliott of East Center street went to Cleveland to join Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Smith and family of Columbus on a trip to points in the east.

Mrs. Joseph Grundy and children returned from a two weeks visit with Mr. Grundy's parents at Muncie, Ind.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Leon Burrey of Wilson avenue and Benton street.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, Aug. 5.

ACCORDING TO the lunar transits bearing rule on mundane affairs, this should be a day of greatly-accelerated activities, with much of major importance occurring after a prolonged period of stagnation and obstacles. It is a time for rebuilding more stable and firmer foundations and with a spirit of much initiative and decisiveness. The energies and faculties will be found under high stimuli for engineering such projects with aggressiveness and force, with results corresponding to the diligence and merit exerted.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of great enterprise and notable achievement in the launching of important projects, after a period of rather static conditions. Decisiveness and initiative will be brought to bear in stabilizing affairs with the forces and faculties under high pressure and attracting the solid support of elders or old institutions to meritorious plans.

A child born on this day may be enterprising, determined, of versatility and constructive ability. It should win the indorsement of elders and superiors by its industry, practicality and reliability.

HERE'S ALL THE DOPE FOR YA, MR. ROCKABILT—YOUR SON IS GOING WITH A GIRL NAMED CLARICE WHO'S STOPPING WITH HER UNCLE CASPER— HE WORKS FOR PLUNKER & CO.,....
CLARICE? HMM— I'LL PAY HER WELL TO STAY AWAY FROM MY SON, BUT FIRST I THINK I'LL HAVE A TALK WITH THIS MAN CASPER.....
MR. CASPER, THIS IS THOMAS ROCKABILT, SENIOR, SPEAKING
HA-HA, THAT'S A RICH ONE, BUT I'VE BEEN KIDDED BY REAL KIDDERS!
THAT WAS SOME PRACTICAL JOKER PRETENDING HE WAS THOMAS ROCKABILT, SR., BUT I HUNG UP ON HIM! THAT RICH GUY 'PHONING ME! THAT'S TOO FAR-FETCHED! HA-HA!
THE 'PHONE'S RINGING AGAIN! SEE YOU LATER, CASPER

SAY, WHY CAN'T WE GET RID OF THIS GOLD? IT WEIGHS A TON! IN CASE OF A QUICK GETAWAY IT WOULD BE EASIER TO CARRY THE LOOT IN YOUR INSIDE POCKET—AND NO RISK!
MAYBE!
DON'T BE SILLY—THE GOLD IS TOO HOT—IT MIGHT BE TRACED BACK TO US! WHAT'S A HUNDRED GRAND? CHICKEN FEED—WHEN YOU THINK THERE'S MILLIONS STILL WAITING FOR US!
MAYBE
ANOTHER THING—IF WE SOLD IT TO A FENCE, HE'D WANT AT LEAST HALF FOR HIS RAKE OFF. WHEN WE CLEAN UP THE REST OF THE TREASURE—WE'LL GO TO MEXICO AND GET EVERY PENNY THE GOLD IS WORTH!
OKAY, PAL
NOW DON'T YOU GO A'WORRYIN' YOUR LITTLE HEAD ABOUT WHO OPENED THE DOORS AND WHAT HAPPENED TO THE GOLD! THAT'S FOR THE POLICE TO FIND OUT! YOU SIT DOWN AND I'LL GIVE YOU A BIG DISH OF ICE CREAM—AND WE'LL SOON KNOW WHAT HAPPENED TO THE ICE CREAM!!

MAGGIE WANTS TO FIRE THE NEW BUTLER—AND I JUST FOUND OUT HE IS AN EXPERT AT COOKING CORNED BEEF AND CABBAGE—
BY GOLLY—I KNOW HOW TO PREVENT HER FROM FIRIN' HIM—
I INSIST ON DISCHARGING HIM TODAY—
YOU WON'T HAVE TO FIRE HIM, MAGGIE—I UNDERSTAND THAT MRS. VAN NANTRUCK, WHO YOU DISLIKE SO—IS ANXIOUS TO HIRE HIM—BUT I WILL DO AS YOU SAY—
JUST A MINUTE—SHE WANTS TO HIRE HIM JUST TO FIND OUT ABOUT US—THE OLD GOSSIP—WE'LL KEEP HIM—EVEN IF WE WILL HAVE TO RAISE HIS SALARY—

The Gumps — By Gus Edson

I'VE BEEN ON MY DIET FOR A WEEK AND NEVER FELT BETTER IN MY LIFE — IT WASN'T EASY, I ASSURE YOU — THERE'S NOTHING THAT TAKES A MAN'S MIND OFF SPINACH AND WATER-CRESS LIKE THE SIGHT OF A PLATE OF ROAST BEEF —
IT'S MIGHTY HARD FOR A DIETER TO HEAR HIS CONSCIENCE WHISPERING WHEN HIS TUMMY IS YELLING FOR HELP—IT TOOK THE COURAGE OF A TRUE GUMP
OH MIN! I GAINED SEVEN POUNDS!

RAILS, METALS LEAD UPTURN

Specialties Also in Demand as Marked Advances Fractions to a Point.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK Aug 4—Rails, metals and specialties were leaders in stock market upturns of from some to a point or more today.

Trading got away to an indifferent start while dullness drooped but energy was injected into carriers by a Wall Street rumor current wage negotiations would likely produce a smaller pay increase than demanded by unions.

Additional fuel for the rise was supplied from other channels. Lead shares picked up on a rise of $5 a ton for the metal and various industrials and specialties had said from improved earnings and dividends.

Gainers were New York Central U. S. Steel Bethlehem Youngstown Shee & Tube General Motors Chrysler Goodyear Sears Roebuck Anaconda du Pont and Westinghouse.

Backward much of the time were Western Union American Telephone U. S. Rubber American Locomotive and American Can.

Upturns in rails brightened the bond market. Corn was higher, wheat lower.

Buying of copper issues analysts said was a rebuttable in part of strength in the price of copper abroad and quickening domestic demand. Some stressed that for more than a year the foreign price has been above the domestic and that currently the spread is more than 1 a cent.

BUYING HELPS RALLY WHEAT AT CHICAGO

Exporters and Domestic Mill Purchasers Open Brisk Trade.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO Aug 4 — Buying credited to exporters and domestic millers did much here today to bring about wheat markets' rallies to above yesterday's final prices.

There was talk here of inquiries for nearby export shipments of wheat. Movement of domestic winter wheat fell off but the domestic spring wheat harvest was progressing favorably.

At the close wheat was unchanged to ½ cent higher, corn was 1 cent to 1¼ cents higher with September 1.13¾@1.14 December 1.13¾@1.14¾, corn 1 cent to 2¼ cents up, September 96¾@97, December 93¾@94, and oats unchanged to ¼ cent advance.

ROTARY DELEGATES TELL ABOUT VISIT TO EUROPE

Dr O M. Young and J C Mann Are Speakers at Ladies' Night Dinner; Motion Pictures Shown

Talks and moving pictures of a recent trip through Europe in connection with the annual convention of Rotary International at Nice France, featured a meeting of Marion Rotarians their wives and guests at the Country club last night. Eighty-seven persons attended the dinner meeting which in addition to honoring Dr and Mrs O M Young and Mr and Mrs James C Mann who attended the convention also was one of the several Rotary Ann or ladies parties held each year.

Edgar Barnhart, president of the club presided and gave the address of welcome to the delegates and their wives and also to the wives of two new members Mrs A. J Cayoute and Mrs. Howard Swink.

Guests other than Rotarians and their wives included Miss Marguerite H. May Mary Jo Scaford Mr and Mrs Dale Hughes and Harold Dexter Jr. who played piano selections.

Delegates Talk

Mr Mann who was the official delegate for Rotary clubs of Tiffin Delaware Ladd and Attica made the first talk in which he described the activities to be found abroad. For example The Hague has a club of seventy-two people in its population. Another interesting fact was that the custom of driving on the left side of the road believed by most Americans to be true the right. Europe is true only in England Mr Mann said.

Dr Young the one at Marion delegate to the trip through Europe and also showed moving pictures taken by himself of cities throughout the continent. The pictures were shown by Dale Hughes. One of the interesting scenes taken by Dr Young was the changing of the guards at Buckingham palace one of the most colorful traditions of the empire. Many of the scenes were in color.

Coronation Views Shown

Dr Young also presented pictures of the coronation which he obtained from an English film company. They showed in remarkable close ups the entire ceremony of the Archbishop of Canterbury and other church officials as they were about to crown the king and queen. The coronation itself will be shown by the movie men at a later meeting.

The program was arranged by E. N Sloan general program chairman. Singing was led by D. A. Howard and Carl Warner.

FOUR INJURED AS AUTO HITS DITCH

Blowout Causes Machine To Leave Road Near "Suicide" Crossing

Four persons including a three year old child all of Marion suffered minor injuries in an automobile accident near the intersection of state routes 95 and 98 five miles east of Marion this morning about 7:30 o'clock according to a report of highway patrolmen. The accident resulted when a tire on the left front wheel blew out patrolmen reported.

Those injured are Miss Catherine Smith 22 of Canton a deep cuts and bruises Miss Robert Foust 25 and Mrs Jack Lupton both of West Center street. Operations and three stitches by Dr Ellis Smith cuts about the face and hands. All were treated at the office of a Marion physician and released.

The car patrolmen said was being driven east by Russel Messenger, 19 of 130 Canton street. The accident occurred just east of the highway intersection known as suicide crossing. As the car swerved when the tire blew it left the road careened into a ditch at the right side of the highway. The side at top of the automobile was damaged to the extent of about $400 patrolmen said.

UNCLE AND NEPHEW TEAM MANAGERS

Teams headed by uncle and nephew will compete on Oct 10 in a horseshoe pitching contest between two old brethren church teams from Marion and Galion. Small favors will be at stake. The game will be open to the public.

The Galion team is managed by Uncle Josh and his nephew Uncle Rip Jr is manager of the Marion team. It will be the first game of the season for either team. Marion pitchers probably will go to Galion for a return game later in the summer.
